"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat."

It's an old and homely adage and finds an application here.

The maker of merchandise has reached the end of his Summer "tether."

His season is about over; yours has just begun.

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these dainty Summer garments at a big drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we cornered these lots. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

MR. BRYAN SICK.

Suffers With an Acute Attack of Laryngitis.

Governor Stone Will Deliver the Notice of Nomination to Messrs. Bryan and Sewall.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Wm. J. Bryan, nominee for the presidency, is suffering today from an acute attack of laryngitis. When he arose this morning he could speak only in husky tones, and his condition was such that Mrs. Bryan and Mr. St. John, whose guests Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are, deemed it necessary to send out at once for aspecialist, Dr. F. E. Miller. The physician diagnosed Mr. Bryan's difficulty as above indicated, and expressed the hope that his patient would be able to meet his engagement with the democratic notification committee at Madison Square garden this evening. Under the physician's advice, Mr. Bryan will not leave the house until it is time to go to the mammoth hall in which he is expected to address 15 000 people this evening. At noon Mr. Bryan was enjoying a restful sleep. The only persons who were permitted to see Mr. Bryan today were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bride, of Washington, with whom he boarded while a member of congress. They called in response to a special invitation mailed to them last week.

The first meeting of the day of the committee on notification was to arrange the details for the night The meeting organized by electing Governor Stone, of Missouri, to serve as chairman. Governor Stone read to the committee the letter from Senator White, of California, who had been originally chosen to deliver the speech of notification, asking the governor to officiate in his stead, on account of his inability to come east for the occasion. The action of Senator White was ratified.

The committee decided to meet at the Fifth avenue hotel tonight and march in a body to Madison Square Garden, then it adjourned.

The program contemplates that Governor Stone shall deliver the notification speech to Mr. Bryan, who will respond. Then with a few words Governor Stone will present to Mr. Sewall the written notification of his nomination, to which the vice presidential candidate will respond briefly.

The interest attached to the second meeting of the national democratic committee at noon was increased by persistent rumors that the members would take action to remove from the committee those men whose absence was alleged to accentuate their objections to the national ticket and platform. Those mentioned as the members to be disciplined include W. F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania; W. F. Sheehan, of New York; French, of Connecticut, and Lawler, of Minnesota. In Sheehan's case, in particular, it was said that the local organizations were persistent in a demand for his removal

TORRID SPELL BROKEN.

The Excessive Heat of the Past Week Abating.

New York Reports Six Additional Deaths by Sun Stroke---The Weather at Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—There were indications this forenoon that the torrid spell under which this section has suffered with only one slight intermission for two weeks is drawing to a close. The heat, however, was excessive all the night and increased with the rising of the sun, and at 6 a. m. the thermometers down town marked 83° in the shade, the official records, however, being 8° less. A brisk breeze tempered the fervid rays of the sun, even with the humidity 70 per cent. At 10:45 a m. the weather observer's thermometer showed a temperature of 85½°. The pavements, however, have a vast deal of caloric stored in them, which does not make itself manifest in official reports based on observations 100 feet above the street level. Between 2 and 7 o'clock the police had been notified of six deaths as the result of the heat. The names are as follows: William Dempsey, Ann Flood, Ann Keanzeally, Henry Daestel, Mary Ann Devine, Edward Albert. At 9 o'clock a. m. the police records showed that sixteen persons had been treated for sunstroke since 2 o'clock in the morning.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 12—Six deaths from the heat and many cases of prostration were reported in Brooklyn from midnight last night to 10 o'clock this morning. The list of dead is as follows: Catherine McGrath, aged 35; Frank Rooney, Celia McGough, aged 29; William McNamara, aged 70; Edward McCann, aged 10, and an unknown man.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 12—Up to 11 o'clock four deaths and a score of prostrations from heat has been reported at police headquarters. The dead are: John Berg, Frederick Eherlwin, Cecilina Morris and Hugh Drunn. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometers down on the street ranged from seven to ten degrees higher. Shortly after 9 o'clock a light westerly breeze sprung up and tempered the scorching rays of the sun.

SUED HIS STEPMOTHER.

Viscount Hill Demands the Family Diamonds.

LONDON, Aug. 12—At the Birmingham assizes yesterday Viscount Hill, who was formerly engaged in farming near Florence, Kas., and now of Bedford, Ont., sued the Dowager Viscountess Hill, his stepmother, to recover the diamonds and jewelry which he claims as heirlooms under the will of his grandmother. Judgement was rendered in favor of the defendant.

CASE SETTLED.

Felix Rousey Got $150 for the Loss of a Hand.

The Way Minnie Eix Has of Getting Even With One Who Prosecuted Her.

Through N. C. Miller, his attorney, Felix G. Rousey, a boy sixteen years of age, through his next friend, Elizabeth Rousey, brought suit in the superior court to recover $2 000 damages from the Horton Manufacturing company. The complaint sets forth that Rousey was an employe for the company and while operating a machine at their factory had his hand so badly mangled by a saw that amputation of the hand was necessary. The defendant filed an answer, and after that the case was settled by the Horton Manufacturing company paying the defendant the sum of $150.

Justice France fined Robert Castle $1 and costs for profanity. The affidavit was filed by Minnie Eix. Some time ago Castle filed an affidavit against Minnie for keeping a house of ill fame. Since then the parties have had quarrels and last evening Castle indulged in profanity in the presence of Minnie. To get even she had him arrested.

Justice Bullerman fined Henry Schraeder $10 and costs for maintaining a nuisance. The defendant threw a dead horse in the river and allowed it to remain there. Schraeder could not pay the fine and costs and went to jail for twenty-eight days.

BICYCLE RACES.

Everything in Readiness for the Great Event.

A Fast Track and the Best Riders of the Age Will Be the Feature of the Meet.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 12.—The weather today is all that the visiting wheelmen could desire and they are enjoying themselves to the full extent. A heavy thunder storm last night caused the thermometer to take a tumble and all day a good north breeze has been blowing, which has had the effect of cooling off the atmosphere to such an extent as to make a ride on the wheel thoroughly enjoyable. All the preparations for the races, which begin tomorrow, have been completed and everything is in fine shape, the track being lightning fast. Some good sport is anticipated, and it will not be surprising if old records are lowered and new ones hung up.

In this connection W. C. Pelot, of Chicago, says: "These will be the greatest races in the history of the bicycle. They will be the greatest for the reason that the fastest men in the country, and more of them, will take part in the contests than ever before met at a bicycle track. Another thing, the track is the fastest in the world. All the racers are in excellent condition and eager for the laurels which will fall to the hands of the victorious in these splendid contests. If these conditions do not insure great races I do not know what would."

The small number of lady cyclists present up to date is a cause of remark, but it is expected that by tomorrow quite a large crowd of the fair sex will be in attendance. The century run to Frankfort and return that was to have been taken by the wheelmen at 6 o'clock this morning, was abandoned on account of the bad condition of the roads, caused by last night's storm. Mr. Will Rubey, who had charge of the run to Frankfort, took a party of wheelmen over to the Jeffersonville penitentiary and government depot instead. Runs were also made to New Albany, Morrisville Hill, Falls of the Ohio and Shipping Port, about twenty-five miles from the city.

The grand parade will start at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and after going over the principal streets of the city will wind up at Jacobs' park, where a watermelon feast will be held. Preparations have been made at the park to supply 10,000 wheelmen with watermelons.

This evening, from 8 to 12 o'clock, a reception will be given the visitors at the Iroquois club house, which is located in Southern Park way, half way between Jacobs' park and the city.

TURKS REJECT

The Demands of the Christians of Crete.

ATHENS, Aug. 12—The Turkish government has finally rejected the demands of the Christians of Crete, except so far as the provisions of the Halepa convention and general amnesty to the insurgents are concerned.

In a fight at Vodena, Macedonia, between 150 insurgents and a body of 500 Turks the former were reinforced after four hours fighting and routed the Turks, fifty of whom were killed. Macedonian peasants, armed with rifles stolen from the Turks, are joining the Greek raiders.

A TERRIBLE TALE.

Rapine, Murder and Wanton Cruelty in Formosa.

Japanese Soldiers Engaged in a War of Extermination Against the Luckless Formosan.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 12.—From far Formosa, where for upwards of a year Japanese troops have been vainly striving to crush out the seeds of postbellum opposition to Japan innovations, comes a story which, for barbarous cruelty and defiant violation of all ethics of civilization, has fortunately few parallels in history, even of the savage races of the world.

The terrible tale of rapine, murder and wanton cruelty reached here by the steamer Empress of Japan and fully bears out the statements on the situation in Formosa, given publicity by the Rev. Dr. Mackay on his return to that island six months ago. Other equally creditable correspondents are now the witnesses against Japan and the burden of the arraignment is that, seeming neither fame nor profit to be gained in the subjugation of the Formosans by the art of modern warfare, recognized as legitimate by civilized nations, the Japanese troops sent to that land have been embarked in a crusade of blood, their object being to crush out all signs of discontent by, as far as possible, exterminating the native population. In this campaign there were no foreign powers to make protest and no foreign press representatives to herald to the world the atrocities, the telling of which would bring upon Japan the contempt of all enlightened people.

Says the Taintanfu representative of the China Mail: "As a result the policy of extermination has been zealously pursued from the beginning of the campaign and what with the destruction of their crops, the burning of their villages, the desecration of the graves of their loved ones, the violation of their wives and daughters and the butchery of their innocent children, the people are driven to the last expedients of desperation."

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Italian Government Urged to Take Action on the Rabneville Lynching.

LONDON, Aug. 12—The Spanish government is inviting tenders in England for the construction of a floating dock at Havana.

ROME, Aug. 12—The provincial newspapers demand that the government take action regarding the Rabneville lynching. The Corriere Dela Sear, of Milan, declares that until Americans are willing and able to protect the lives of Europeans they had better close their ports entirely to the immigration of whites as a bid against Chinese cheap labor, adding: "Events, such as have occurred at New Orleans and now at Rabneville, cannot be tolerated by nations having any pretense of civilization."

LONDON, Aug. 12—It is semi-annually stated that there is no truth in the report, published by the Daily Chronicle, of this city, that Great Britain and Russia are on the point of reaching an agreement "to save both Armenia and Crete from Turkish oppression without disturbing the peace of Europe," which agreement it was added, would involve the presence of a Russian army in Armenia and of a British fleet at Crete, "to guarantee Turkish compliance with the terms of the agreement." It is stated on the other hand that there is great discord among the powers as to the measures which should be adopted in regard to Crete, and Russia, it is further asserted, is showing marked disinclination to allow great pressure to be brought to bear upon the sultan.

ATTACKS THE GOVERNOR

John R. Wilson's Open Letter to Mr. Matthews.

Claims That the Free Silver Men Are the Bolters and the Gold Men Are Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 12 — John R. Wilson, secretary of the national committee of the national democratic party, has addressed an open letter to the governor in reply to the latter's recent interview criticizing the sound money democrats. Mr. Wilson gives Thomas Jefferson's conclusions against free silver, recites the history of the democratic party, gives a list of defeated bills introduced by populists in congress which would have called for an expenditure of thirty-seven billions of dollars, quotes the utterances to the effect that Bryan is a populist, was elected to congress by populists, and said he would not vote with the democrats this year, unless a free silver platform were adopted. Mr. Wilson insists that the governor and his friends, not the sound money men, are the bolters and says that the governor shows dense ignorance of the party's history. Also an ignorance of Scripture when he compares the gold men to Judas, when in fact Judas betrayed a great cause for silver.

WHISKY DID IT.

Two Men Shot and Killed at a Political Convention.

MUSCOGEE, I. T., Aug 12—Two men were shot and killed and another mortally wounded at the annual convention of the National Party in the Cherokee nation, held ten miles north of Tehelquah, the capital. The parties killed were Eli Wofford, chief of police of Tehelequah and Charlie Proctor, deputy sheriff, and Leonard Williams, sheriff, was wounded fatally. The row originated over the spilling of whisky. Wofford shot Williams and the latter returned the fire, killing Wofford immediately. It is said Wofford's brother killed Charlie Proctor and escaped. The affair has created intense excitement and will serve to break up the convention which would have lasted through the week.

IRISH LAND BILL

Before the House of Commons Today.

Discussed by Secretary Balfour---Says It Has Been Changed to the Detriment of Tenants.

LONDON, Aug. 12—The Irish land bill, as amended in the house of lords, where it recently passed its third reading, was before the house of commons again today.

The chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Gerald Balfour, indicated the proper course of the government. He said they were prepared to acquiesce to the new turbary clause to Lord Inchiguin's new subscription clause and to the amendment dealing with proceedure sales. The other amendments, he added, would be accepted in principle, but on the question of pasture holdings the government would adhere to the 660 limit and could not accept Lord McNaughton's amendment omitting clause 5.

Mr. Balfour also said that the lords had materially altered the bill to the detriment of the tenants, but he hoped the lords would accept the measure in the shape the commons would return it to them. Otherwise it would be a calamity to Ireland, including the landlords themselves.

Continuing, the chief secretary said there had been a great change for the better lately in the condition of Ireland, where the intense bitterness was dying out, and were they going to seize the opportunity to reinforce the kindlier feeling prevailing or were they going to justify those who were only too ready to inculcate the most pernicious lesson that for Ireland when in tranquil nothing would be done, but for Ireland clamorous and crime ridden no cession would be denied. That was the issue now to be decided and most sincerely prayed that parliament might be wisely guided in arriving at a decision.

BEATEN BY CANADA.

Our Yachts Not Equal to Those of Our Neighbors.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug 12—It was decided to have three races today. These will be for forty six footers, forty footers and twenty-five footers. The yachts finished in a twelve mile breeze. Canada finished first in the forty-six foot class. Vivia was first in the forty foot class. Sybil won the twenty-five foot class.

CARE FOR THE HORSE.

During the Hot Weather of Summer.

Instructions Regarding Their Treatment When Overheated, of Interest to Horsemen.

During such hot weather as we have been having for some time the following instructions regarding the treatment of horses when overheated will be of interest to the many horsemen in this city.

The symptoms of overheating are easily noticed, as the horse will suddenly stop and refuse to work, or, in more severe cases, stagger and fall. The horse should be unharnessed at once and removed to a shady place and freely sprinkled with water, head and body. Sponging the mouth and nostrils with water or with vinegar and water and the application of spirits will gradually revive the animal. In ordinary cases it will take several hours before the horse can be safely removed, as in the process of recovery it is likely to stagger and fall.

The scarifying and bleeding of the mouth and ears, not infrequently practiced by drivers who are frightened and do not know what to do, is useless and senseless and only excites the horse, then in a condition where rest and quiet are most essential to recovery.

The prevention of sunstroke lies in the judicious care of the horse at this particular time. The patient and careful driver will have little to fear from the heat, whereas the man who hurries or otherwise abuses his horses invites sunstroke.

It is well to call the attention of drivers and foremen of barns to the liability of horses to sore shoulders at the present time, when perspiration and dust easily irritate the skin. The results are sores, simple abrasions, swellings, galls and abscesses, which, if not properly attended to from the start, may make the horse unserviceable for weeks at a time. Pains should be taken to wash the shoulders of horses with water and soap when they return from the day's work, and if there are any visible swellings or sores they should be bathed with salt and water, and in cases of open or running sores a carbolic salve or other disinfecting ointment should be applied. Horses in this condition should be kept from work until the wounds are healed; although, in cases of small sores, pads of straw or felt may be attached to the collars and other harness parts in such a way as to prevent further irritation and pressure. If this can be accomplished the sores will heal, while at the same time the horse may be moderately worked.

AT AN END.

The Bryan Party Reached New York Last Night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—William Jennings Bryan stepped upon the soil of the Empire state last night for the first time since his nomination for the presidency by the democratic national convention at Chicago. The party was taken from the railroad station to the ferry boat. When the boat reached the dock in New York, Captain Cross with a cordon of police held the crowd aboard for a few moments while Bryan, Sewall and the party entered carriages in waiting. When they got outside the ferry gates they found at least 5,000 people waiting, and although the police made all effort to allow the carriage to proceed, it was stopped several times, the last time being when the horses, annoyed and scared by the applause and shouting, balked. At the St. Johns house, on Thirty-fourth street, there was another gathering of citizens who applauded vociferously. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Bryan showed much fatigue.

ENGLAND WON

In the Rubber Cricket Match With Australia.

LONDON, Oct. 12—The rubber cricket match between England and Australia which commenced on Monday with the English at the bat, was continued today. The English eleven, in its first innings, made 145 runs. The Australians then went in for their first innings and made 119 runs. In their second innings today, the Englishmen made 84 runs, a total of 229 for both innings. The Australians, in their second innings, were out at 44 runs, a total for Australia of 163 runs. Thus England won by 66 runs.

Rich Gold Mines.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 12.—The richest gold placer mines af Alaska have been transferred to Canadian territory and miners are now paying diggers taxes to British authorities. The territory in question is from three to eight miles in width and embraces the rich placer claims on Glacer and Miller creeks, which heretofore were supposed to be in Alaska territory. The transfer of territory is the result of treatyes recently made.

IN THE TOILS.

Susie Lyle Charged a Second Time With Theft.

She is Placed Under Bonds to Stand Trial---Other Police News.

Upon affidavit of Annie Boyer, of Wells street, Susie Lyle was placed under arrest last night, charged with stealing a pair of shoes. She was arraigned in police court this morning and bound over in the sum of $100 to stand trial. The prisoner had no money nor friends and went to jail. A few days ago she was charged with stealing a dress from a young lady at the Randall hotel, but was released by the officers because no one wanted to prosecute her. She has lately been boarding with the lady who made the present complaint.

TOOK THE WHOLE GANG.

Today the officers went out to the Pittsburg gravel pit and gathered in twenty-three tough characters, who were attracted here by the races. The officers have information of another band of hobos headed this way and are on the lookout.

RACES POSTPONED.

Today's Events Will be Run Out Tomorrow.

The managers of the races concluded to postpone today's races until tomorrow, owing to the heavy condition of the track. Today's and tomorrow's program will be run out tomorrow, the races to commence at 12 o'clock. This will make an unusually fine list for tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

Good weather brought out a crowd of 1 500 people to witness the races yesterday afternoon at the Driving park. The A. O. U. W. band furnished the music.

The track was fast after the soaking and beating the rain gave it Monday evening. The working it received during the afternoon's events greatly improved it, and it is believed that it will be prime for this afternoon.

The first event on the card was the 2:20 trot, unfinished from Monday. Derby Princess had two heats to her credit and Bessie Wilton one. Derby Princess was winner from the start and Wilton and Hubbard make it a race for the place all the way around. Time —2:12

Fair View was the favorite in the three year old pace, with Lady Golden and Joe Bailey next in favor. Gus Hornet, as an unknown quantity, was played some for place. Fair View took the first heat after a pretty drive with Lady Golden, and in the second set a fine pace in the stretch for Joe Bailey. The third heat was none too easy for the gelding, but he was good enough for the best behind him.

The 2:24 pace was what everybody wanted. Frank Bogash, whose performance at Detroit, Cleveland and Columbus was still fresh in the minds of the people, was the attraction. On the second score the horses got away well bunched. At the quarter pole, Bogash was third, which position he held until they turned into the stretch, when he moved up on the leaders. Evidently, Mr. Geers, with Mocking Boy, who was in the lead, did not expect Bogash was out for the heat. He was not expecting the drive and, as Bogash came up, Mocking Boy, went in the air and Frank Bogash won handily. Time, 2:15½

In the second heat Woodnut again attempted to cut it cut of his field and went to the half a length in the lead. Bogash forged up at the three-quarters and won easily, Woodnut and Simmons having a lively brush for the place. Time, 2:12 Mocking Boy had some backers for the third heat and he started out in a fashion that looked as though he were going to make their investments good. The field was bunched to the half, when Mocking Boy gradually drew away from the field. It was promising for him for a short time only. Again he went into the air. Ed. Geers tried to get him into the race again, but it was useless. Frank Bogash won easily in 2:12

VITAL STATISTICS.

Few Contagious Diseases as Compared With Last Year.

Births and Deaths of a Month Reported by the Secretary of the Board of Health.

Dr. A. J. Kesler, as secretary of the board of health, is today compiling the vital statistics for the month of July and Dr. L. P. Drayer is assisting him in the work. He finds that there were fifty three births and forty-five deaths. Cholera infantum was the most fatal disease among children, while consumption led in the adult cases.

In speaking of contagious diseases Dr. Drayer said that the sanitary condition of the city is better than last year, as is evidenced by a comparative showing. In the month of June last year there were a number of contagious diseases, while in the same month this year there were none. Last month there was only one contagious case reported, while July a year ago there were five.

FROM A LUMBER PILE.

Fred Hahn Injured at the Hoffman Lunber Yard.

This morning Fred Hahn, an employe of Hoffman Bros, while working on a lumber pile in the yards, fell to the ground, his head striking one of the rails of the yard tracks, and causing serious concussion, which rendered him unconscious. He was conveyed to his home, No. 157 West Main street, where the scalp wound was dressed and medicine administered to reduce the inflammation. He will be laid up for some time to come.

LIGHTNING STROKE.

Bolt Strikes the House of Mrs. M. A. Taylor,

Shattering a Chimney and Slightly Shocking the Inmates---Narrow Escape.

During the storm last evening lightning struck the residence of Mrs. M. A. Taylor, on Howell street, the bolt shattering the chimney and a portion of the roof. Mrs. Taylor and a neighbor were seriously though not dangerously shocked by the bolt, and the entire neighborhood was more or less frightened. Several trees in the vicinity of the city were struck by lightning but no further damage to buildings is reported.

UNEARTHED A GIANT.

Dr. J. M. Shutt and Jesse Schild Explore a Mound.

They Find Bones of a Mammoth Human Being---Further Investigations Soon to be Made.

Dr. J. M. Shutt, of Lakeside, and Jesse Schild, of the Keller Dental company, were given authority a few days ago by Marion Thompson to explore an Indian mound on his farm in the extreme northeastern part of Huntington county. The doctor is a great relic hunter and had his eye on the coveted spot for a long time, so he proceeded there yesterday with implements to proceed with his investigations, and Mr. Schild assisted him. The mound is thirty-six feet one way and thirty-seven feet the other and nine feet high. As a result of their search they unearthed a number of Indian skeletons, the largest being that of a giant eight feet and two inches in length The skull of this human mammoth was five-eighths of an inch thick. The doctor brought the bones home with him, as well as numerous other relics from the mound.

While in Huntington Dr. Shutt met a farmer named John Geeseman, of whom he procured another interesting relic in the shape of a double egg, the outside shell of which is nine inches in circumference one way and seven and three-quarter inches the other way. A small aperture in the outside shell was broken by Mr. Geeseman, showing a perfectly formed egg of the ordinary size upon the inside. This marvel of hen fruit was the product of a Plymouth rock hen.

IN EXCELLENT SHAPE.

Condition of Affairs at the Allen County Infirmary.

The county infirmary farm never looked in a finer condition than it does at present and everything about this institution, where our poor are cared for, reflects credit upon Superintendent Felts, who has been in charge of the home and farm for nearly two years. A brief visit to the place yesterday afternoon by a SENTINEL representative showed the farm prospering under the management of Superintendent Felts. The crops are looking finely and in grain, fruit and vegetables of all kinds will compare favorably with those in any part of the county. There are now nearly ninety patients at the institution. They are being nicely treated and all the departments of the infirmary show cleanliness and the exercise of care in their management. Superintendent Felts is proving a capable and popular public official.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon occurred the death, at the St. Joe hospital, of Mrs Catherine Lawler, wife of Bartholomew Lawler, of Columbia City. Death was caused from paralysis, from which the unfortunate lady has suffered for several years. She leaves a husband and several children. The remains were taken to Columbia City for burial.

TURNING OVER.

Many Republicans Who Will Vote the Democratic Ticket

On Account of the Silver Issue---Dr. Shutt's Observations in Grant and Huntington Counties.

Dr. J. M. Shutt, of Lakeside, has returned from Grant and Huntington counties where he has been for the last two weeks on professional business. During his absence the doctor had the opportunity to sound public sentiment in the various places where he had been on the silver question. He says that many republicans have expressed their determination to vote this year for Bryan and free silver.

"You seldom hear," he said, "of a democrat who is going to bolt the ticket, and, if you do hear it, it is always added that he is the banker of the place. In almost every neighborhood in the country and in town, I was told of the names of four, five or six men, hitherto republicans, who this year would vote with the democrats on account of the silver question."

"At Anderson," the doctor added, "the other night the Bryan club held a business meeting. The club now has a membership of 700. Four hundred and fifty members of the club were democrats; 150 were populists, and 100 were republicans, but now they are for free silver and Bryan for president."

FOUND DEAD.

Unknown Body Held by a Pennsylvania Coroner.

Supposed to Have Been a Fort Wayne Citizen---Investigation to be Made.

Today Morgan & Co. received from the coroner of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, a letter of enquiry regarding an unknown man who had been found dead at Jackson's Run, Pa., not far from Pittsburg. The man had evidently been killed by a train, and whether he was a passenger or walking along the track when the accident occurred is not yet known.

The only thing which might possibly lead to identification is a pocketbook bearing the inscription "Morgan & Beach, hardware, Fort Wayne, Ind.," which was found in the dead man's pockets. S. A. Burrowes, of Morgan & Co., told a SENTINEL reporter that about a year ago the firm gave away such pocketbooks to their customers among the mechanics, but of course they cannot remember each individual to whom they presented them.

The following description is given of the dead man: About fifty years old, five feet eight inches in height, weight about 150 pounds, complexion fair, hair brown and short, chin beard and moustache. Had on a black suit and blue and white striped shirt.

An effort is being made to find out whether the deceased is a Fort Wayne man or not.

Our base ball cranks will be lonely for awhile. There will be no more games in this city until the last of the month.

The republicans of this county will hold their nominating convention on Saturday of this week.

The bicycle is reported to have cut off half the demand for cigars and greatly reduced the number of schooners of beer. The bicycle is seldom tied up in front of a saloon.

The health authorities are to be complimented on the excellent sanitary condition of the city. Their reports show few cases of contagious diseases—and far less than for the month of August in former years.

Those who have suffered from the oppressive heat of the last few weeks enjoyed the solid comfort of the cool wave that the storm of last night brought. It is only temporary, however, for old Sol will give us more scorching days during this month.

In face of the evidence that alcohol largely increases the danger of prostration from heat, there should be a careful abstinence from spirituous beverages during the hot weather. Many of the fatal cases from sunstroke during the present torrid wave have been chargeable to liquor, and where this complication is present the chances of recovery are greatly lessened. "Soft drinks" are the price of safety during the present condition of the mercury.

Sorting and Sifting Out the Gold.

Those who heard Judge Taylor's speech on the money question at the Masonic Temple last Thursday evening, or who have read it as reproduced in pamphlet form for use in the republican campaign, will recall the picture it presents of the careful sorting—and sifting over all sorts and varieties of money by banks and bankers, and how on the instant spur of the moment, the gold would be taken and the silver and other forms of money would be refused as unfit for use, if silver money should be restored to its rightful place in the national coinage. This picture of the manner of sorting and sifting out the good money from the bad, is just and true enough, both in conception and detail. The only trouble about it is found in its application. The artist evidently intended it for future, not for present, application. He was representing that which is to be, rather than what is, or has been. The picture must therefore be classed among prophetic, rather than historical paintings.

It probably did not occur to the judge that the great mistake in his work is in not applying it to existing conditions at the sub-treasury, which fit it exactly, instead of defering it for future ones that probably will never exist; for the sorting out and selecting only gold at the sub-treasury for the use of foreign banks and treasuries, and leaving nothing but the refuse for home use, exactly fits both the existing condition of things at the treasury and the minutest detail of the picture.

At no other national treasury than our own can there be found a like daily routine of sorting out gold for export to European treasuries, banks and bankers, and leaving only the "refuse" for American use.

President Harrison is responsible for the introduction of this vicious practice of sorting out American gold for use in foreign countries, by disregard of the law of government option, to pay current demands in gold or silver coin, at discretion—a law as indispensible to the maintenance and preservation of the national finances in time of peace, as are the army, navy and coast defenses for the national defense in time of war. Without this right of option in the government to meet current demands in gold or silver coin at its discretion, it is simply impossible to maintain the bimetallic system of gold and silver money established by the constitution for the national finances. Without this essential means of self defense, the gold and silver money basis of the constitution, would be but another form of the single gold basis that is sought to be substituted for it. That this right of government option in the use of the one coin or the other in financial emergencies does not exist in single gold standard countries, is not because it would not be as safe and helpful in emergencies there as elsewhere, but only because there is no ground or room for it to work on, for where there is but one thing to be done, or had on demand, there can be neither option nor choice in the doing or the having of it. It is but the case of "Hobson's choice" or none, over again.

Though Mr. Harrison was the first to attempt to break down this law of government option to pay current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, Mr. Cleveland has gone so far ahead of him in efforts to substitute the single gold standard for that of the gold and silver one of the constitution, that he has come to be recognized as the author of it. Besides the two hundred million dollars product of our gold mines during his administration, and what gold he could get out of the revenues, he has wasted $260,000,000 more, as mere incidental expenses of his attempt to drive silver out of the American coinage. His extravagances in these mere incidental expenses of administration almost surpass belief.

Knowledge of the existence of this law of option in the government, to pay all current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, when not otherwise provided, was in itself enough to render resort to its exercise unnecessary until two successive administrations gave public notice that the law would not be enforced. Then, and not until then, the rush on the treasury for gold coin began.

Weary travelers will welcome the new fashioned sleeping car. It has regular staterooms like a ship, and these can be locked. The passenger can stand up to undress and dress. The berths are all one side of a corridor, instead of being on both sides. All this has been accomplished by an ingenious sliding arrangement of partitions, which seems simple now that somebody has thought of it.

It is claimed for an electric carriage constructed in Chicago that it can travel 18 miles an hour. It is propelled by a storage battery fixed under the seat. The crying need of the time is not, however, for pleasure carriages run by mechanical motor, but for heavy hauling wagons thus propelled. It is the huge trucks with the heavy pounding horses attached to them that block, defile and wear out the streets. A horse to a light driving carriage is a pretty sight and one that it would be a pity to lose from among mankind.

One result of the present political campaign will be that the people of the United States will understand the currency question better than they ever did before. They are reading, studying and thinking, and under these circumstances the right side will be very apt to come uppermost in the fall elections. It certainly will if voters dismiss all prejudice from their minds and proceed to get all the light they can on the money question without any reference to anything but just getting light.

THE BRAIN CAN GROW

EXPERIMENTS INDICATE THAT PARTS CAN BE DESTROYED AND RESTORED.

A Frenchman's Great Discoveries—Results of Vast Importance Follow the Removal of the Visual Lobe of a Monkey—Possibilities of the Future.

Recent experiments by M. Vitzou, a French physiologist, lead to a somewhat sensational conclusion and may possibly explain some wonderful and inexplicable recoveries from brain injury that have been reported in the past. That conclusion, briefly stated, is that a part of the brain, when entirely destroyed or removed, may be replaced by the growth of new brain cells.

If this be true, then the brain—the dominating organ of the animal economy—possesses a property that is shared by none of the lower organs over which it presides—namely, that of natural replacement after injury. If a man's finger is cut off by a circular saw, no one expects to see a new finger grow out in its place; if he loses an eye, we do not look for another to replace it. Yet if M. Vitzou is right, the destruction of an important lobe of the brain—for instance, that which presides over sight—need not be hopeless. The cells will gradually form again and respond to the visual impressions received through the optic nerve as before.

This property of regrowth is common among the lower creatures. If a lobster's claw be taken off, a new one will grow in its place. With still lower organisms the removal of almost any amount of tissue is scarcely a serious affair, and its replacement is largely a matter of time. Now it appears that the higher animals share this power, at least with respect to one organ, and that the most important of all.

This is not altogether a new idea. It has been advanced before and has even been made the subject of a somewhat heated controversy, but M. Vitzou's experiments are so apparently decisive that they may settle the matter, although in science all questions are open, and no one may consider that he has said a permanent "last word." However this may be, these are the experiments that seem to settle the matter. They were tried not on man, it is unnecessary to say—for it is not yet legal to scoop out even part of a human brain while its owner yet lives—but on some of his nearest relatives among the lower animals—namely, monkeys. The opponents of vivisection would doubtless raise their voices in energetic protest at the cruelty shown to these creatures. That experimentation of this kind must necessarily be cruel few will deny, but to the enthusiastic physiologist cruelty is quite justifiable when it leads to the acquisition of scientific knowledge.

In this case that part of the brain which presides over the sense of sight was removed from each of the monkeys, the part without which any one of us would be quite as blind as if his eyes were put out. It was quite evident, after the operation, that the animals were, in fact, totally blind. They were kept and cared for, and as the months went on they seemed to be on the way to recovery. Finally in about a year's time it was evident that they saw, if not as perfectly as before at least partially—that is, something was performing the functions of the removed brain tissue. So far the experiment can hardly be said to be conclusive, for cases have been known where one part of the brain has been able to perform the duty of another part. It may have been, then, that the task of responding to visual impressions had been learned by some other part of the brain. The monkeys were therefore operated upon again—part of the skull was removed and the brain was examined. The part that had been taken out was found to be partly replaced by a growth of new cells, so that it seems practically certain that it was this new brain growth that had been the cause of the partial restoration of sight.

What will all this lead to? If it will be of any benefit to the human race, then the poor monkeys suffered and died in a good cause. If a monkey's brain cells can grow again, so, undoubtedly, can a man's, and this fact gives us reason to hope for recovery in cases of serious brain injury that before seemed hopeless. Again, if such growth is possible, means of fostering and stimulating it are probable and will doubtless be the objects of further research. Some method may even be discovered by which the new growth may be made more vigorous and healthy than the old, in which case startling and sensational results may follow, though this may seem to be looking a little too far into the realms of mere possibility. But why should not a weak part of the brain be cut out and replaced with a new and healthy growth of brain cells? Why should not the idiot be given in this way a new thinking machine and the imbecile, the paranoiac, the crank, be fitted out with new mental apparatus?

In the days to come the statement that John Smith has just been growing a new cerebellum in the hospital may be heard with no more surprise than is now caused by the news of an operation for appendicitis. The question would then arise, Who is the reconstructed John Smith? Has his personality altered? Is he the same or another? But this must be left to the psychologists and the courts of law of the year 1950 or thereabout.—New York Herald.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII

The Most Magnificent Spectacle of Modern Times.

MANY STARTLING SITUATIONS.

Historical Production of the Doomed City in Which 350 Handsomely Costumed Persons Will Take Part—Brilliant Display of Fireworks.

Fort Wayne is soon to witness the Last Days of Pompeii. The magnitude and enormous expense of operating this big open air exhibition has heretofore prevented its production in any but the large cities of the country, and it was secured for four nights, commencing Monday night, Aug 17.

A faint idea of the magnitude of this stupendous show may be had when one carefully considers the fact that the scenery alone used to produce a miniature likeness of the doomed city of Pompeii, covers an area of over five acres of ground and is mounted on massive frames of wood and iron. Real buildings, 20 to 50 feet in height, represent historically famous structures, while in the background towers grim old Vesuvius, nearly 100 feet high.

On a mammoth stage in front of the scenic city 350 gorgeously costumed performers participate in the glittering spectacle. There will be five exciting Roman hippodrome races, by sixteen beautiful thoroughbred horses and daring male and female drivers; a large ballet of fifty pretty girls; a big specialty company of noted sensational performers; an array of skilled athletes and acrobats in all feats and postures of the Roman hippodrome; intricate evolutions of the Roman guards and Pompeiian maidens, and enchanting music by a big military band of twenty-five musicians. In front of this great stage, and flowing between the audience and the performers, is a lage lake of real water, which is covered with gaily illuminated gondolas, etc.

During these revelries the volcano begins to show signs of bursting forth, and the festivities are finally brought to an abrupt termination by the flood of real fire and lava from the treacherous Vesuvius, preceded by flashes of lightning and startling earthquake shocks The doomed city is soon buried in the fiery debris and its hundreds of people seem to have perished with it, so mysteriously have they disappeared.

Grand as have been all the scenes leading up to this startling climax, the most beautiful feature of the gorgeous scene is yet to follow, for above the ruins of the desolated city takes place a magnificent display of Paine's renowned Manhattan Beach fireworks, introducing all the novelties of aerial and squatic pyrotechnics. One thousand dollars is nightly expended in the fireworks display alone

Excursion rates have been granted on all railroads entering Fort Wayne during the Last Days of Pompeii engagement, and this will be a rare opportunity for our people to witness what is unquestionably the greatest open air attraction ever seen in this country.

Among the Americans seeking health in Switzerland is Clinton P. Ferry, of Tacoma, Washington, who is well known in Fort Wayne. Mr. Ferry was born in this city, spent his boyhood here and quite a few of his companions of those early days are now among our prosperous business men, all of whom will remember him well. He settled in Tacoma in its infancy and did much toward its development, hence he is referred to as the "Duke of Tacoma." Wise investments made him wealthy, but his failing health of late years prevented the full enjoyment that riches sometimes bring and he has found it necessary to spend much of his time abroad. Mr. Ferry is now at Geneva under the care of a physician. His daughter, a highly educated lady, who visited here a few years ago, is with him.

Col. W. T. Royse has returned to this city from Lakeside, Ohio, the summer resort and assembly grounds on the edge of Lake Erie, where he was attending the exercises of Ben Hur day last week. He says the meeting was a great success and was attended by 900 members of the order. Colonel Royse will be at the Ben Hur meeting to be held Friday evening at Vordermark's hall, over Thing & Co's store, when a scribe will be elected for the new court now being organized in this city and other important business transacted. The meeting will be an open one and all persons, whether members or not, will be welcomed to attend it.

RACED FOR A WOMAN.

RIVALS SETTLE A QUESTION OF LOVE IN A NOVEL WAY.

By Agreement They Run a Hundred Yard Dash For Rosa Fraunce—She Witnessed the Struggle—The Winner Danced With Her In Token of His Victory.

Samuel Levy and Harry Fales went to Ridgewood, N. J., the other day and ran a 100 yard dash. Levy won the race, and now all the belles and beaus in east side social circles of New York are talking about the victory. The stake was the love of a young woman. When the victor crossed the line, he knew that his only rival to the heart and hand of Rosa Fraunce had been disposed of for all time.

Young Levy ran 100 yards and sprinted into the affections of the girl in exactly 11 seconds.

The events leading up to the race form the component parts of a story alike unique and romantic. Rosa Fraunce is 18 years old and has lived on the east side all her life. Two years ago she met Harry Fales at a dance. A week later she met Samuel Levy at another dance. At that time Fales was the champion concertina player of the east side and assistant application clerk at the branch office of the Consolidated Gas company, corner of Hester and Elizabeth streets. He is still in their employ. Five minutes after he had met the girl he avowed his love. Ten minutes after Samuel Levy had met her he insisted that he would be her "steady" or know the reason why.

Fales and Levy were members of the Eureka Social club. The president of the Eurekas is Jack Goldstein. When he learned the truth, he called the two lovers to him and said:

"Say, it looks to me as if the best thing you fellows can do is to settle this without trouble. You both think you are sprinters, and why not make a match of it? Say you run a hundred yards at the next outing of the club, and the man who wins gets the girl." Both Levy and Fales agreed to the proposition. The young woman was interviewed, and she promptly declared that the man who won the race could be her "steady" for all time. Then the rivals began active training.

The members of the Eureka and their friends went over to Ridgewood the other day and cheerfully paid their way into the Coliseum park. For two hours they danced and talked about the race. At 4 o'clock Miss Fraunce arrived.

Presently the rivals appeared. Levy came first. He weighed in at 275 pounds. He had trained off 25 pounds and said he would "win in a walk." Fales soon arrived. He is built on the Fitzsimmons plan and looked like an overgrown youth. Half an hour later the distance had been measured off on a strip of level turf. The runners rolled up their trousers and took off superfluous clothing. Then the word was given, and they were off.

Fales was the first to get away, and when half the distance had been covered he was a yard in front and running easy. But Levy suddenly roused himself, and by a great burst of speed closed the gap. Half a dozen yards from the tape they were shoulder to shoulder, and everybody was wildly cheering. Then came the final spurt, and as the white tape parted Levy was in front. At his heels was the disconsolate Fales.

The young woman had been a silent witness of the race. She gave her hand to the winner, and they led in the dance.—New York Journal.

BUNKOED A BUNKOER.

Thompson Got Money, but Was Fooled When He Tried to Get a Wife.

William Haddock, a wealthy farmer of 70, was sitting in front of his beautiful home near Watertown, N. Y., Sunday evening, when a well dressed, dapper looking fellow of perhaps 30 approached.

"I am ex-Assemblyman G. C. Lewis of Lewisville," remarked the stranger. "I was robbed of $200 on the train, and I want to borrow $25 until tomorrow, when I'll meet you down in Watertown at 2 p. m. and repay you."

Farmer Haddock handed over the sum to the "assemblyman" without question. Next day he drove to Watertown; but, though he waited at the appointed place more than an hour, his debtor did not appear. "Assemblyman Lewis" was at that time 20 miles away, wooing Maggie Bigelow, the pretty 17-year-old daughter of Farmer Edward Bigelow. Maggie's beauty and her father's bank roll proved an irresistible combination, and yesterday, 24 hours after "Lewis" met her, they were engaged to be married.

Farmer Haddock in some way learned all this, and he set out to combine forces with Farmer Bigelow. In Watertown they met, and Farmer Bigelow's anger when he learned how his daughter had been duped may be imagined. Together they started out for the Bigelow farmhouse. Before they arrived there the "assemblyman" had hitched up a horse and, with his bride elect, had started for Carthage in quest of a minister. The two farmers got a speedier horse and drove after the couple the 20 miles to Carthage. There they found bunkoer and bunkoed in a hotel parlor waiting for the knot tier. Farmer Bigelow was eager to use a shotgun on "Lewis," but was prevented. He took his daughter home and, so the story goes, gave her an old fashioned spanking.

Farmer Haddock gave the bunkoer over to the custody of the constable. His real name is George C. Thompson, and farmers all over the state have been his victims. He had $1,500 in his possession when arrested. — New York World.

A BARRIER TO CUPID.

New Law Enacted In Canada to Stop Runaway Matches.

The new marriage law of the province of Ontario will make it more difficult than heretofore for American couples who cross the border for the purpose of contracting a secret marriage. Hundreds, if not thousands, of such marriages have for many years taken place annually, especially at Windsor, which is only a ferryboat ride from Detroit, the only requisite being that the groom should secure, for the sum of $2, a license from a person authorized to issue such document.

Under the new law, however, no certificate or bann can be issued until affidavit is made by both of the contracting parties that no impediment exists which will tend to prevent the marriage as contemplated. Moreover, when either of the contracting parties is under the age of 18 the written consent of the parents or guardian of such party must be appended to the affidavit. It is also provided that no marriage shall be solemnized when either party is under the age of 14.

The commissioners of the Salvation Army are authorized to solemnize marriages when empowered to do so by the executive officers of that organization. The new law, it is believed, will put a quietus on runaway marriages and the union of minors.

OBJECT TO A NUDE STATUE.

Mr. McKim's Gift to the Boston Public Library May Not Be Accepted.

A nude bronze statue of a bacchante, the work of Mr Frederick MacMonnies, intended to be placed within the fountain of the inner court of the Boston public library, may never delight the artistic eyes of modern Athens. Such a decided "kick" has come from certain influential sources that the trustees may refuse to accept the gift.

It is offered by Mr. Charles T. McKim, who constructed the building. The figure is about life size and represents a girl laughing, as she trips along, at a baby, who sits in the fold of her left arm and reaches toward a bunch of grapes which she is dangling above the child. The whole figure is full of life and joyousness. It was first exhibited in Paris and was much admired.

Mr. McKim is cognizant of the objections made to the statue, which cost him many thousands of dollars, and it is questionable if he will allow himself the humiliation of a refusal. He will, it is thought, dispose of it otherwise.—New York Herald.

Men and Women.

The pictures of the women who attended the recent conventions at Chicago and St. Louis as compared with those of the men illustrate an interesting point. Many of these women came from small western and southern towns, and it was noticeable that all of them aimed at New York styles in their dress. They may have aimed badly, and in some cases their target was a year or two behind the day, but their intention was apparent. The men from the same towns preserved their characteristic dress, and there was no indication that it was in any way affected by New York styles. If they came from a town where broad brimmed felt hats and low cut waistcoats were still fashionable, they wore them. Their wives, however, were more or less in line with what is or has been the fashion in this city.—New York Sun.

JAKIE, COURT MUSICIAN.

A Promise Made by Mr. Bryan Long Years Ago.

When William J. Bryan was nominated by the Chicago convention for president, he stated that he had made no pledges or promises. From a letter received by C. M. Kissell of Springfield, O., from Ella Landis of Salem, Ills., Mr. Bryan did make a promise which he will be called upon to keep, though it was made when he was a mere lad. According to her letter Mr. Bryan and Jacob Chance were chums when boys in the little town of Salem, and she refers to them as "Billie" and "Jakie."

One day they were talking about what they would do when they were men, and "Jakie" said he would be a fine musician, and "Billie" said he would be a congressman and then president and that he would make "Jakie" court musician. As soon as "Jakie" heard of Mr. Bryan's nomination he telegraphed his congratulations and signed the message, "Jakie, court musician."

Mr. Chance is a resident of Pennsylvania, and is an organist in a church at a salary of $1,500 a year. He has the reputation of being a very fine musician, so that he has accomplished his aim in life, and the indications at present are good that Mr. Bryan will do likewise.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CONVENTION OF CARRIERS.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the national convention of letter carriers, which is to open at Grand Rapids Sept. 1. The convention will be under the auspices of the National Letter Carriers' association, and distributors of missives from all points within a radius of 300 miles of Grand Rapids will be in attendance. Monday, the opening day of the convention, being Labor day and a national holiday, the entire force of Chicago carriers, under General Superintendent Frederick F. Stoll, will go to Grand Rapids. They will travel in three special trains over the Michigan Central road.

There will be a grand parade upon that day, in which 5,000 carriers will take part. It will be reviewed among others by Postmaster General Wilson, Postmaster Hesing and the postmasters of Milwaukee and Grand Rapids. In the evening there will be a banquet, at which Postmaster General Wilson, Postmaster Hesing, First Assistant Postmaster General F. H. Jones and Superintendent of Free Delivery Machen will respond to toasts. The convention will last several days, and among others there will be in attendance the Pullman band and the Postoffice Clerks' Cycle club of Chicago.—Chicago Post.

SHOP AND RAIL.

The Wabash Shops Will Cease Operations for Awhile.

Hot Weather Supposed to be the Cause —The Storm Interferes With an Excursion.

J. B. Barnes, superintendent of motive power of the Wabash, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, bringing unwelcome news to the shopmen at this point. Shortly after Mr. Barnes' arrival, orders were issued to the effect that the shops would be closed indefinitely, and the order went into effect at once. There is some work, however, which could not be delayed, and thirty or forty men have been retained to finish it. The cause of the suspension is not stated, but it is understood to be in part due to the hot weather and consequent illness of a number of employes. About 200 men are affected.

SMALL EXCURSION TO ROME CITY

On account of special attractions at Rome City today, the Grand Rpids and Indiana road ran an excursion train from Winchester to that resort. Unfortunately for the company, the rain which prevailed nearly all night in this part of the state, increased in severity as the hour for the departure of the train arrived, and when it reached this city there were only about twenty five excursionists aboard. The railway people had reasons for believing that the excursion would number ber several hundred people and had made ample provisions for their accommodation. The disappointment was great.

IMPORTANT TELEGRAPHIC DISCOVERY

A description of a new electric telegraph has been forwarded to the department of state at Washington by Mr. Robert Kirk, consul at Copenhagen. The apparatus, which is described in a Danish newspaper, was constructed by a young boatswain in the Danish navy, and makes it possible to communicate with a ship at a certain anchor ground without any direct line from the land. An electric battery is placed on the shore with one pole in contact with water or moist earth, while the current from the other pole through a telegraph key and revolution interrupter is conducted to a cable which is laid out to the anchor ground and placed around the latter in a coil with a diameter of 1,200 feet. On board the ship, which is situated at anchor ground or a short distance outside the coils, that is small solenoid with which a telephone is connected. When a message is sent from the land a bell sounds on the ship and the communication is sent by the telegraph key through the telephone instrument The signals may be based on the Morse alphabet. The apparatus may also be so constructed that an answer can be sent from the ship. The inventor thinks he will succeed in making it possible to speak through the instrument as in the case of the common telephone. Vessels at sea, it is said, will be able to telegraph to each other when each have a solenoid on board. The distance at which they will be able to do so will depend on the length of wire and strength of the electric batteries.

BRIEF MENTION.

H. C. Greenland and M. Bracks, Pittsburg firemen, will go east to work on the Cleveland and Pittsburg branch of the Pennsylvania system during the rush of the coal and ore traffic, or until their services are demanded upon this branch of the road. Bernard Gillen and Herbert Wells have been working on that road for two weeks now, and they will probably stay there the balance of the season.

C. F. Clugston, commercial agent of the Grand Rapids road at Muskegon, Mich., was in the city last evening for the purpose of looking after some unfinished business of C. W. Lanning, traveling agent, who has resigned to go with the Baltimore and Ohio road. Mr. Lanning's friends among shippers at this point will be interested in knowing that he is about to step into a much more lucrative position.

An item is going the rounds of the press to the effect that the board of managers of the Joint Traffic association is living in lavish style in New York City, when, in fact, the board has not the conveniences to which it is entitled, and instead of taking meals at one of the best New York hotels, the members take them at an eating house near by, and recently notified the manager of the dining hall that unless better food is furnished the board will seek other quarters. No one who visits the place of meeting will come away with any idea that the rooms are even pleasant headquarters, they being too limited for the board and its clerical force.

Some railroad men believe that Caarles Neilson, first assistant postmaster general, inspired the action of the postmaster general in regard to baggage mail. Mr. Neilson is an old railroad man and understands the subject thoroughly. He was once superintendent of the Erie's Buffalo division and lived in Buffalo. After leaving Buffalo he became general superintendent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, and when Ives, the late Napoleon of finance, made his famous coup and obtained possession of the Vandalia Mr. Neilson was, for the time being, in charge of that company's operations. As everyone knows the big deal went to the wall. Later on Mr. Neilson went into the government service in the position that he now holds.

CRATER LAKE THE SUBJECT OF INVESTIGATION.

The United States Fish Commission Has Just Dispatched an Expedition to Oregon's Wonderful Body of Water—May Be Stocked.

(Washington Letter.)

THE United States Fish Commission has just sent an expedition to investigate the famous Crater Lake in Oregon. This is the deepest body of fresh water in America. Only one lake in the world is deeper — namely, Baikal, which exceeds it in depth by about 40 feet. Until recently it was asserted that Crater Lake was bottomless, but soundings have proved that its greatest depth is 2,000 feet. It is five miles in diameter, nearly circular, and occupies the crater of an extinct volcano.

Now, no fish have ever been known to exist in Crater Lake. Not long ago a request that it be stocked with trout was sent to Washington by the Mazamas, who are a club of mountain-climbers having headquarters at Portland. Mazama is the Indian name for mountain goat. These climbers are anxious to angle in the extinct crater, and the government experts are going to find out whether or not such a thing is practicable. It is easy enough to put trout into the water, but that would be of no use unless there is food for them there. Trials will be made for the purpose of ascertaining how much food there is and whether or not it is of a kind suitable for speckled beauties to browse upon.

This will be accomplished by towing small nets of gauze along the surface of the water. The water will flow through the gauze, which will catch all the animalculae that come in its way. The quantity of the latter secured in a given number of minutes or hours will be an accurate measure of the amount of fish food present. They will be bottled and preserved in formaline for subsequent examination by a specialist, who will determine the species represented. Chiefly they will be little shrimps and other small crustaceans, and there will be some insects also. It will be necessary to make the towings at different hours of the day because some crustaceans swim near the surface only in the morning, others at midday, and others yet in the evening. Shady areas as well as sunny ones must be sought for various species.

There are very few places in the entire lake where the depth is less than 1,600 feet, though it shoals off somewhat in the southwest part. One line of soundings registered over 1,900 feet for a distance of two miles. These depths are unapproached by any other lake in the western hemisphere.

No wonder, then, that Crater Lake was supposed to be bottomless. However, the truth is that all lakes over 1,500 feet deep possess a similar reputation. Any body of water that is deeper than the length of the longest fishing line is sure to lack a bottom in the popular belief. A first-rate example of this sort of delusion is afforded by Payette Lake, in Idaho. It was formerly imagined to be bottomless, and later its depth was officially stated at 2,600 feet. Recent investigation proves that its greatest depth is 305 feet. There are no data on which to base a guess as to the bottom temperature of Crater Lake, but the supposition is that it will be very little above freezing. The temperature of the ocean depths remains at about forty degrees Fahrenheit all the year round, even in the tropics. Nevertheless, some volcanic heat may yet remain to warm the waters of Crater Lake.

Geologists regard Crater Lake as quite a wonderful phenomenon. Its surface is 6,329 feet above sea level. It is situated seventy-five miles east of Rogue river valley, through which the Oregon and California Railroad passes, and may be reached by a picturesque mountain road. It is in the midst of one of the most attractive geological fields in the world. Lying in the summit of the Cascade range, about midway between Mount Shasta and Mount Hood, it is especially remarkable on account of its beauty and the grandeur of its encircling cliffs. This mountain summit is a broad platform topped by numerous volcanoes. One of these volcanoes, Red Cone, takes its name from the color of the debris with which it is covered. Rising to about 1,000 feet above the plain, it is surmounted by a hopper-shaped crater several hundred feet across and of great depth.

Red Cone is situated two miles from the northwest shore of Crater Lake. The color of the latter is ultramarine, bordered by turquoise along the shores. Set in majestic cliffs, it is a natural jewel. Beautiful and attractive as it is, it serves but to conceal the greater wonder—namely, the stupendous pit or basin in which it is contained. Although there are thousands of craters in this country, there is but one great one, and that contains Crater Lake. The diameter of the top of the pit is nearly six miles, and its depth is 4,000 feet. Its bottom is lower than the foot of the Cascade range, and is approximately a plain, judging from the surroundings. To the westward a mountain peak rises from the bottom, its top forming Wizard Island.

Wizard Island is itself an extinct volcano. It is surmounted by a cinder cone, and in its top is a crater 150 feet deep. It is thought that the shoaling of the lake in its southwestern part is due to lava poured out by this small but once energetic volcano. The latter, which is simply a pile of lava 2,500 feet in height, was certainly active only a few centuries ago. But there was a time when there was neither pit nor lake, and instead might have been a single enormous cone towering into the sky like Shasta or Hood and forming a prominent peak of the range. Some tremendous geologic catastrophe broke off the top of the cone. Probably it will always remain a mystery how this huge mountain, nearly six miles in diameter and a mile higher than at present, was removed, and in what manner the pit now occupied by Crater Lake was produced.

It might be imagined that the top of the mountain was blown off, but geologists do not believe that this was the case. The probability is that the molten entrails of the giant volcano found an outlet near its base and escaped there. Thus the top sank in, and the final eruptive effort of the mountain is represented by the cinder cone whose top is called Wizard Island. Crater Lake has no visible outlet, but it is thought that there is a subterranean escape for some of the water. To the north of the lake stands Mount Thielson, which is remarkable for its sharp summit and for the occurrence thereon of a peculiar kind of glass known as "fulgurite." This glass is made by lightning, which strikes the quartz rock and fuses the silica. The peak in question has been such a favorite target for lightning that its glass-covered rocks gleam in the sunlight.

ANDREE'S BALLOON.

Indians Claim to Have Seen It in British America.

Evelyn Baldwin Don't Believe Their Story and Gives His Reasons for the Doubt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Evelyn B. Baldwin, when asked this morning concerning the reported appearance of Andree's balloon in British America, in latitude 55° 11′ longitude 127° 40′, said: "I do not believe the report, as welcome as the accomplishment of the achievement would be to me. As late as August 2 or 3 Andree had not yet left Spitzbergen, and he could not, therefore, have been 3 000 miles beyond that point on the evening of the 31, as related by the British American Indians. The bright lights seen by them may have been auroral displays. Again Andree expected to land either in latitude 76°, longitude 155°, in the vicinity of Cape Barow, or in latitude 67°, longitude 100°, in the very north portion of British America. Although Andree's airship is a wonder'ul piece of mechanism and with favorable conditions would undoubtedly accomplish the voyage, I regard the sledge and ship as the only practicable means of accomplishing the conquest of the north Still, Andree's effort must be regarded in the nature of a scientific experiment Should he lose, he alone will suffer most; should he win, the world will be the gainer thereby."

Today, while workmen were excavating for a sewer at the new school house in Archer's addition, they came across the trunk of a tree twenty six feet under the surface The wood was in a fair state of preservation.

AMERICA TRIUMPHANT.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

There has been a prevalent idea that no matter how valuable the results of American genius and workmanship might be in other things, that when it came to the construction of devices for the human body the BEST could be obtained only from abroad. How thoroughly this idea has been exploded is shown by the following Associated Press Dispatch, as well as by the fact that in the higher circles of medical practice in this country and Europe. The "Banning System" is used exclusively in the treatment of Rupture, Spinal disease and distortion; deformed feet and limbs and all derangements that are the result of the internal organs being out of position. Manufactured only by the E. P. Banning, Orthapodie and Mfg. Co., of Willoughby, Ohio.

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO
Oct. 25, 1893.—(Associated Press)

—The contest for supremacy as to the best method of treating spinal diseases and deformities was a vigorous and exciting one, over 130 different physicians, inventors and surgical instrument makers being in the lists. The jury awarded the highest and only prize to the method of Dr. E P. Banning, of Cleveland, exhibited as the "Banning's System of Support." The points on which the award was given are lightness, coolness, effectiveness, capacity for accurate adjustment, physiological construction, power to create proper muscular antagonism, and remove weight from off the inflamed intervertebral cartilages.

DRUG STORE OF MARTIN DETZER, 260 CALHOUN STREET.

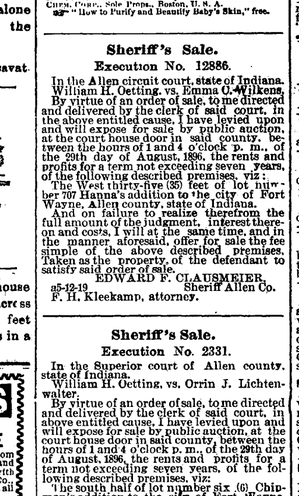
Fort Wayne, Ind., May 27, '96.

Mr. Editor:

It is a duty I owe the public to state the cure of my daughter's and my own cases by means of Dr. Banning's skill'ul adjustment of his supports. Three bad curvatures of the spine in my daughter's case were painlessly and promptly removed, and she now is a symmetrical young lady. I suffered for years from a terrible rupture, painful and dangerous in a high degree. I received no relief from the many means I tried Dr Banning, without operation, pain or detention from business, cured me so I can go without a truss I know many others where his skillful application of support has removed their ruptures and other physical disabilities I cordially commend the man and his system to all my friends and will be glad to see anyone on the subject.

Yours truly,
MARTIN DETZER.

BI LATERAL CURVATURE.



THIS FORM OF CURVATURE IS EASILY AND SPEEDILY CURED BY THE BANNING SYSTEM.

Appliances make no show through the clothing; leave the body untethered and the patient's improvement in form and strength is immediate.

DR. BANNING IS AT THE AVELINE HOTEL, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Hours 9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 4 and 7 to 8 p. m.

Insane From Heat.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—While temporarily insane from excessive heat, W. D. Lally, a Cleveland railroad contractor, jumped from a fourth story window at the Hotel Boyer this morning and was fatally hurt.

A Word or Two to those suffering from catarrh or the thousands subject to severe attacks of cold in the head, will not be amiss if a sure remedy can be offered. Ely's Cream Balm has become a favorite in all sections of the United States, because of its effectiveness. Your cold in the head will be quickly relieved by it, and the severest attack of catarrh will yield to, and be perfectly cured by a thorough treatment. Catarrh is not a blood disease, but an inflammation of the passages of the nose and throat, due to climatic changes.

Mothers, Be sure and use "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for your children while cutting teeth. It is the best remedy of all. MaySeod&w

At 7 o'clock last evening the fire department was called to put out a fire in the stable at the rear of the building of Henry Freistoffer, the blacksmith, at 41 West Main street. The barn was filled with hay, and the fire was a stubborn one, but was discovered in time to prevent its spread. The loss is about $300 and not insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Wabash Tribune: "Owen Carothers and Miss Foster were among the many who took in the excursions to Fort Wayne yesterday. It appears, however, that this couple went for some other purpose than that to enjoy the beauties of Robison park and the story is going the rounds this morning that Miss Edith came back as Mrs. Owen Carothers. At any rate the young couple has received the congratulations of numerous friends in a matter of fact way which leads to the belief that they are indeed one."

This personal gossip is taken from the Columbia City Post: Miss Randall, of Fort Wayne, is in the city today visiting Mrs. William Meiser.—Mrs. Leopold Kraus and daughters, Nettie and Elsie, and Mrs. Apfelbaum and baby went to Fort Wayne today.—Ella McCarthy, of Huntington, who has been visiting friends here, went to Fort Wayne today, and from there home.—Mrs. Geo. Haines and her mother, Mrs. M. J. Nessel left this morning for a few days visit with friends in Fort Wayne.—Bart Lawler received a telegram from Fort Wayne today that his wife, who is confined to her bed at the St. Joseph hospital."

A new business concern, to be known as the Wayne Baking company, is soon to be launched in this city, the chief promoter of the enterprise being Daniel J. Reilley, who for ten years occupied the position of foreman in the baking department of the Fox branch of the U. S. Baking company. Mr. Reilly has just returned from Chicago, where the company purchased an equipment of cracker and sweet goods machinery, to be delivered here as soon as a lease is closed for a building. Mr. Reilley, whose many years of experience qualify him to manage such a business with good promise of success, will look after the baking department himself. The new factory will be in operation in a few weeks.

The board of school trustees held a meeting last evening and transacted business pertaining to the approaching school opening. Mrs. Henninger was appointed janitress of the Lakeside school, and all other janitors and janitresses were reappointed at the same salaries paid last year. Miss Birdie Austin was appointed to a position as teacher in the Hoagland building. Secretary Cooper was instructed to notify manufacturers of school desks to present bids for furnishing the two new buildings with desks. A report was received from Mrs. Susan C. Hoffman, librarian of the public library, which report will be printed later. A donation to the library, of books and periodicals, made by Col. R S. Robertson, was accepted with thanks. Bids for furnishing sixty tons of Hocking Valley coal to the Hoagland building were opened, and the contract was awarded to James Wilding at $3 35 per ton.

Shopmen! Railroad Men!

Generally you pay cash for what you buy and that is wise.

Fifty dollars will buy in a cash store like ours, with the lowest cash prices, about as much as you will get for a hundred dollars in installment stores, where you who pay your bills, have also to help pay for the goods of those who never pay anything.

Some times you need a little credit on a part of your purchase. When you do, don't pay an installment store $10 for an article you could buy of us at $5 or $6, but come to us and we will arrange to give you the little accommodation you need. We would rather do this and suffer a little loss of interest ourselves rather than have our regular customers forced to pay sixty, seventy and even eighty per cent. more for their goods than we would charge them.

MR. BRYAN SICK.

Suffers With an Acute Attack of Laryngitis.

Governor Stone Will Deliver the Notice of Nomination to Messrs. Bryan and Sewall.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Wm. J. Bryan, nominee for the presidency, is suffering today from an acute attack of laryngitis. When he arose this morning he could speak only in husky tones, and his condition was such that Mrs. Bryan and Mr. St. John, whose guests Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are, deemed it necessary to send out at once for a specialist, Dr. F. E. Miller. The physician diagnosed Mr. Bryan's difficulty as above indicated, and expressed the hope that his patient would be able to meet his engagement with the democratic notification committee at Madison Square garden this evening. Under the physician's advice, Mr. Bryan will not leave the house until it is time to go to the mammoth hall in which he is expected to address 15 000 people this evening. At noon Mr. Bryan was enjoying a restful sleep. The only persons who were permitted to see Mr. Bryan today were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bride, of Washington, with whom he boarded while a member of congress. They called in response to a special invitation mailed to them last week.

The first meeting of the day of the committee on notification was to arrange the details for the night The meeting organized by electing Governor Stone, of Missouri, to serve as chairman. Governor Stone read to the committee the letter from Senator White, of California, who had been originally chosen to deliver the speech of notification, asking the governor to officiate in his stead, on account of his inability to come east for the occasion. The action of Senator White was ratified.

The committee decided to meet at the Fifth avenue hotel tonight and march in a body to Madison Square Garden, then it adjourned.

The program contemplates that Governor Stone shall deliver the notification speech to Mr. Bryan, who will respond. Then with a few words Governor Stone will present to Mr. Sewall the written notification of his nomination, to which the vice presidential candidate will respond briefly.

The interest attached to the second meeting of the national democratic committee at noon was increased by persistent rumors that the members would take action to remove from the committee those men whose absence was alleged to accentuate their objections to the national ticket and platform. Those mentioned as the members to be disciplined include W. F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania; W. F. Sheehan, of New York: French, of Connecticut, and Lawler, of Minnesota In Sheehan's case, in particular, it was said that the local organizations were persistent in a demand for his removal

TORRID SPELL BROKEN.

The Excessive Heat of the Past Week Abating.

New York Reports Six Additional Deaths by Sun Stroke—The Weather at Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—There were indications this forenoon that the torrid spell under which this section has suffered with only one slight intermission for two weeks is drawing to a close. The heat, however, was excessive all the night and increased with the rising of the sun, and at 6 a. m. the thermometers down town marked 83° in the shade, the official records, however, being 8° less. A brisk breeze tempered the fervid rays of the sun, even with the humidity 70 per cent. At 10:45 a. m. the weather observer's thermometer showed a temperature of 85½°. The pavements, however, have a vast deal of caloric stored in them, which does not make itself manifest in official reports based on observations 100 feet above the street level. Between 2 and 7 o'clock the police had been notified of six deaths as the result of the heat. The names are as follows: William Dempsey, Ann Flood, Ann Keanleally, Henry Daestel, Mary Ann Devine, Edward Albert. At 9 o'clock a. m. the police records showed that sixteen persons had been treated for sunstroke since 2 o'clock in the morning.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 12—Six deaths from the heat and many cases of prostration were reported in Brooklyn from midnight last night to 10 o'clock this morning. The list of dead is as follows: Catherine McGrath, aged 35; Frank Rooney, Celia McGough, aged 29; William McNamara, aged 70; Edward McCann, aged 10, and an unknown man.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 12—Up to 11 o'clock four deaths and a score of prostrations from heat has been reported at police headquarters. The dead are: John Berg, Frederick Eberlwin, Cecilius Morris and Hugh Druun. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometers down on the street ranged from seven to ten degrees higher. Shortly after 9 o'clock a light westerly breeze sprung up and tempered the scorching rays of the sun.

SUED HIS STEPMOTHER.

Viscount Hill Demands the Family Diamonds.

LONDON, Aug. 12—At the Birmingham assizes yesterday Viscount Hill, who was formerly engaged in farming near Florence, Kas, and now of Redford, Ont., sued the Dowager Viscountess Hill, his stepmother, to recover the diamonds and jewelry which he claims as heirlooms under the will of his grandmother. Judgement was rendered in favor of the defendant.

CASE SETTLED.

Felix Rousey Got $150 for the Loss of a Hand.

The Way Minnie Eix Has of Getting Even With One Who Prosecuted Her.

Through N. C. Miller, his attorney, Felix G. Rousey, a boy sixteen years of age, through his next friend, Elizabeth Rousey, brought suit in the superior court to recover $2 000 damages from the Horton Manufacturing company. The complaint sets forth that Rousey was an employe for the company and while operating a machine at their factory had his hand so badly mangled by a saw that amputation of the hand was necessary. The defendant filed an answer, and after that the case was settled by the Horton Manufacturing company paying the defendant the sum of $150.

Justice France fined Robert Castle $1 and costs for profanity. The affidavit was filed by Minnie Eix Some time ago Castle filed an affidavit against Minnie for keeping a house of ill fame. Since then the parties have had quarrels and last evening Castle indulged in profanity in the presence of Minnie To get even she had him arrested.

Justice Bullerman fined Henry Schraeder $10 and costs for maintaining a nuisance. The defendant threw a dead horse in the river and allowed it to remain there Schraeder could not pay the fine and costs and went to jail for twenty-eight days.

BICYCLE RACES.

Everything in Readiness for the Great Event.

A Fast Track and the Best Riders of the Age Will Be the Feature of the Meet.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 12.—The weather today is all that the visiting wheelmen could desire and they are enjoying themselves to the full extent. A heavy thunder storm last night caused the thermometer to take a tumble and all day a good north breeze has been blowing, which has had the effect of cooling off the atmosphere to such an extent as to make a ride on the wheel thoroughly enjoyable. All the preparations for the races, which begin tomorrow, have been completed and everything is in fine shape, the track being lightning fast Some good sport is anticipated, and it will not be surprising if old records are lowered and new ones hung up.

In this connection W. C. Pelot, of Chicago, says: "There will be the greatest races in the history of the bicycle. They will be the greatest for the reason that the fastest men in the country, and more of them, will take part in the contests than ever before met at a bicycle track. Another thing, the track is the fastest in the world. All the racers are in excellent condition and eager for the laurels which will fall to the hands of the victorious in these splendid contests. If these conditions do not insure great races I do not know what would."

The small number of lady cyclists present up to date is a cause of remark, but it is expected that by tomorrow quite a large crowd of the fair sex will be in attendance. The century run to Frankfort and return that was to have been taken by the wheelmen at 6 o'clock this morning, was abandoned on account of the bad condition of the roads, caused by last night's storm. Mr. Will Rubey, who had charge of the run to Frankfort, took a party of wheelmen over to the Jeffersonville penitentiary and government depot instead. Runs were also made to New Albany, Morrisville Hill, Falls of the Ohio and Shipping Port, about twenty-five miles from the city.

The grand parade will start at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and after going over the principal streets of the city will wind up at Jacobs' park, where a watermelon feast will be held. Preparations have been made at the park to supply 10,000 wheelmen with watermelons.

This evening, from 8 to 12 o'clock, a reception will be given the visitors at the Iroquois club house, which is located in Southern Park way, half way between Jacobs' park and the city.

TURKS REJECT

The Demands of the Christians of Crete.

ATHENS, Aug. 12—The Turkish government has finally rejected the demands of the Christians of Crete, except so far as the provisions of the Halepa convention and general amnesty to the insurgents are concerned.

In a fight at Vodena, Macedonia, between 150 insurgents and a body of 500 Turks the former were reinforced after four hours fighting and routed the Turks, fifty of whom were killed. Macedonian peasants, armed with rifles stolen from the Turks, are joining the Greek raiders.

A TERRIBLE TALE.

Rapine, Murder and Wanton Cruelty in Formosa.

Japanese Soldiers Engaged in a War of Extermination Against the Luckless Formosan.

VICTORIA B C, Aug. 12—From far Formosa, where for upwards of a year Japanese troops have been vainly striving to crush out the seeds of pestilent opposition to Japan innovations, comes a story which, for barbarous cruelty and defiant violation of all ethics of civilization, has fortunately few parallels in history, even of the savage races of the world.

The terrible tale of rapine, murder and wanton cruelty reached here by the steamer Empress of Japan and fully bears out the statements on the situation in Formosa, given publicity by the Rev. Dr. Mackay on his return to that island six months ago. Other equally creditable correspondents are now the witnesses against Japan and the burden of the arraignment is that, seeming neither fame nor profit to be gained in the subjugation of the Formosans by the art of modern warfare, recognized as legitimate by civilized nations, the Japanese troops sent to that land have been embarked in a crusade of blood, their object being to crush out all signs of discontent by, as far as possible, exterminating the native population. In this campaign there were no foreign powers to make protest and no foreign press representatives to herald to the world the atrocities, the telling of which would bring upon Japan the contempt of all enlightened people.

Says the Tsintanfu representative of the China Mail: "As a result the policy of extermination has been zealously pursued from the beginning of the campaign and what with the destruction of their crops, the burning of their villages, the desecration of the graves of their loved ones, the violation of their wives and daughters and the butchery of their innocent children, the people are driven to the last expedients of desperation."

FOREIGN NEWS.

Spain Asks for Bids on a Floating Dock.

The Italian Government Urged to Take Action on the Rahneville Lynching.

ROME, Aug. 12—The provincial newspapers demand that the government take action regarding the Rahneville lynching. The Corriere Della Sear, of Milan, declares that until Americans are willing and able to protect the lives of Europeans they had better close their ports entirely to the immigration of whites as a bid against Chinese cheap labor, adding: "Events, such as have occurred at New Orleans and now at Rahneville, cannot be tolerated by nations having any pretenses of civilization."

LONDON, Aug. 12.—It is semi-annually stated that there is no truth in the report, published by the Daily Chronicle, of this city, that Great Britain and Russia are on the point of reaching an agreement "to save both Armenia and Crete from Turkish oppression without disturbing the peace of Europe," which agreement it was added, would involve the presence of a Russian army in Armenia and of a British fleet at Crete, to guarantee Turkish compliance with the terms of the agreement." It is stated on the other hand that there is great discord among the powers as to the measures which should be adopted in regard to Crete, and Russia, it is further asserted, is showing marked disinclination to allow great pressure to be brought to bear upon the sultan.

ATTACKS THE GOVERNOR

Claims That the Free Silver Men Are the Bolters and the Gold Men Are Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug 12 — John R. Wilson, secretary of the national committee of the national democratic party, has addressed an open letter to the governor in reply to the latter's recent interview criticizing the sound money democrats. Mr. Wilson gives Thomas Jefferson's conclusions against free silver, recites the history of the democratic party, gives a list of defeated bills introduced by populists in congress which would have called for an expenditure of thirty-seven billions of dollars, quotes the utterances to the effect that Bryan is a populist, was elected to convince by populists, and said he would not vote with the democrats this year, unless a free silver platform were adopted. Mr. Wilson insists that the governor and his friends, not the sound money men, are the bolters and says that the governor shows dense ignorance of the party's history. Also ignorance of Scripture when he compares the gold men to Judas, when in fact Judas betrayed a great cause for silver.

WHISKY DID IT.

Two Men Shot and Killed at a Political Convention.

MUSCOGEE, I. T, Aug 12—Two men were shot and killed and another mortally wounded at the annual convention of the National Party in the Cherokee nation, held ten miles north of Tehelequah the capital The parties killed were Eli Wofford, chief of police of Tehelequah and Charlie Proctor, deputy sheriff, and Leonard Williams, sheriff, was wounded fatally. The row originated over the spilling of whisky. Wofford shot Williams and the latter returned the fire, killing Wofford immediately. It is said Wofford's brother killed Charlie Proctor and escaped. The affair has created intense excitement and will serve to break up the convention which would have lasted through the week

IRISH LAND BILL

Before the House of Commons Today.

Discussed by Secretary Balfour—Says It Has Been Changed to the Detriment of Tenants.

LONDON Aug. 12—The Irish land bill, as amended in the house of lords, where it recently passed its third reading, was before the house of commons again today.

The chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Gerald Balfour, indicated the proper course of the government. He said they were prepared to acquiesce to the new turbary clause to Lord Inchiquin's new subscription clause and to the amendment dealing with proceedure sales. The other amendments, he added, would be accepted in principle, but on the question of pasture holdings the government would adhere to the 650 limit and could not accept Lord McNaughton's amendment omitting clause 5.

Mr. Balfour also said that the lords had materially altered the bill to the detriment of the tenants, but he hoped the lords would accept the measure in the shape the commons would return it to them Otherwise it would be a calamity to Ireland, including the landlords themselves

Continuing the chief secretary said there had been a great change for the better lately in the condition of Ireland, where the intense bitterness was dying out, and were they going to seize the opportunity to reinforce the kindlier feeling prevailing or were they going to pacify those who were only too ready to incriminate the most pernicious lesson that for Ireland when intranquil nothing would be done, but for Ireland clamorous and crime ridden no session would be denied That was the issue now to be decided and most sincerely prayed that parliament might be wisely guided in arriving at a decision.

CARE FOR THE HORSE.

During the Hot Weather of Summer.

During such hot weather as we have been having for some time the following instructions regarding the treatment of horses when overheated will be of interest to the many horsemen in this city.

The symptoms of overheating are easily noticed, as the horse will suddenly stop and refuse to work, or, in more severe cases, stagger and fall The horse should be unharnessed at once and removed to a shady place and freely sprinkled with water, head and body. Sponging the mouth and nostrils with water or with vinegar and water and the application of spirits will gradually revive the animal. In ordinary cases it will take several hours before the horse can be safely removed, as in the process of recovery it is likely to stagger and fall.

The scarifying and bleeding of the mouth and ears, not infrequently practiced by drivers who are frightened and do not know what to do, is useless and senseless and only excites the horse, then in a condition where rest and quiet are most essential to recovery.

The prevention of sunstroke lies in the judicious care of the horse at this particular time. The patient and careful driver will have little to fear from the heat, whereas the man who hurries or otherwise abuses his horses invites sunstroke.

It is well to call the attention of drivers and foremen of barns to the liability of horses to sore shoulders at the present time, when perspiration and dust easily irritate the skin. The results are sores, simple abrasions, swellings, galls and abscesses, which, if not properly attended to from the start, may make the horse unserviceable for weeks at a time. Pains should be taken to wash the shoulders of horses with water and soap when they return from the day's work, and if there are any visible swellings or sores they should be bathed with salt and water, and in cases of open or running sores carbolic salve or other disinfecting ointment should be applied. Horses in this condition should be kept from work until the wounds are healed; although, in cases of small sores, pads of straw or felt may be attached to the collars and other harness parts in such a way as to prevent further irritation and pressure. If this can be accomplished the sores will heal, while at the same time the horse may be moderately worked.

AT AN END.

The Bryan Party Reached New York Last Night.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—William Jennings Bryan stepped upon the soil of the Empire state last night for the first time since his nomination to the presidency by the democratic national convention at Chicago. The party was taken from the railroad station to the ferry boat. When the boat reached the dock in New York, Captain Cross with a cordon of police held the crowd aboard for a few moments while Bryan, Sewall and the party entered carriages in waiting. When they got outside the ferry gates they found at least 5,000 people waiting, and although the police made all effort to allow the carriage to proceed, it was stopped several times, the last time being when the horses, annoyed and scared by the applause and shouting, balked. At the St. Johns house, on Thirty-fourth street, there was another gathering of citizens who applauded vociferously. Neither Mr. nor Mrs Bryan showed much fatigue.

ENGLAND WON

In the Rubber Cricket Match With Australia.

LONDON, Oct 12—The rubber cricket match between England and Australia which commenced on Monday with the English at the bat, was continued today. The English eleven, in its first innings, made 145 runs. The Australians then went in for their first innings and made 119 runs. In their second innings today, the Englishmen made 84 runs, a total of 229 for both innings. The Australians, in their second innings, were out at 11 runs, a total for Australia of 193 runs. Thus England won by 66 runs

Rich Gold Mines.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 12.—The richest gold placer mines of Alaska have been transferred to Canadian territory and miners are now paying diggers taxes to British authorities. The territory in question is from three to eight miles in width and embraces the rich placer claims on Glacier and Miller creeks, which heretofore were supposed to be in Alaska territory. The transfer of territory is the result of treaties recently made.

RACES POSTPONED.

Today's Events Will be Run Out Tomorrow.

The managers of the races concluded to postpone today's races until tomorrow, owing to the heavy condition of the track. Today's and tomorrow's program will be run out tomorrow, the races to commence at 12 o'clock. This will make an unusually fine list for tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

Good weather brought out a crowd of 1,500 people to witness the races yesterday afternoon at the Driving park. The A. O. U. W. band furnished the music.

The track was fast after the soaking and beating the rain gave it Monday evening The working it received during the afternoon's events greatly improved it, and it is believed that it will be prime for this afternoon.

The first event on the card was the 2:20 trot, unfinished from Monday. Derby Princess had two heats to her credit and Bessie Wilton one Derby Princess was winner from the start and Wilton and Hubbard make it a race for the place all the way around. Time —2:12

Fair View was the favorite in the three year old pace, with Lady Golden and Joe Bailey next in favor. Gus Hornet, as an unknown quantity, was played some for place. Fair View took the first heat after a pretty drive with Lady Golden, and in the second set a fine pace in the stretch for Joe Bailey. The third heat was none too easy for the gelding, but he was good enough for the best behind him.

The 2:24 pace was what everybody wanted. Frank Bogash, whose performance at Detroit, Cleveland and Columbus was still fresh in the minds of the people, was the attraction. On the second score the horses got away well bunched. At the quarter pole, Bogash was third, which position he held until they turned into the stretch, when he moved up on the leaders Evidently, Mr. Geers, with Mocking Boy, who was in the lead, did not expect Bogash was out for the heat. He was not expecting the drive and, as Bogash came up, Mocking Boy, went in the air and Frank Bogash won handily. Time, 2:15½

In the second heat Woodnut again attempted to cut it out of his field and went to the half a length in the lead. Bogash forged up at the three-quarters and won easily, Woodnut and Simmons having a lively brush for the place. Time, 2:12 Mocking Boy had some backers for the third heat and he started out in a fashion that looked as though he were going to make their investments good. The field was bunched to the half, when Mocking Boy gradually drew away from the field. It was promising for him for a short time only. Again he went into the air. Ed. Geers tried to get him into the race again, but it was useless. Frank Bogash won easily in 2:12

VITAL STATISTICS.

Births and Deaths of a Month Reported by the Secretary of the Board of Health.

Dr. A J Kesler, secretary of the board of health, is today compiling the vital statistics for the month of July and Dr L. P. Dreyer is assisting him in the work He finds that there were fifty three births and forty five deaths Cholera infantum was the most fatal disease among children, while consumption led in the adult cases.

In speaking of contagious diseases Dr. Dreyer said that the sanitary condition of the city is better than last year, as is evidenced by a comparative showing. In the month of June last year there were a number of contagious diseases, while in the same month this year there were none. Last month there was only one contagious case reported, while July a year ago there were five.

Fred Hahn Injured at the Hoffman Lumber Yard.

His Head Strikes a Rail Causing Serious Concussion—Will Recover.

This morning Fred Hahn, an employe of Hoffman Bros, while working on a lumber pile in the yards, fell to the ground, his head striking one of the rails of the yard tracks, and causing serious concussion, which rendered him unconscious He was conveyed to his home, No 157 West Main street, where the scalp wound was dressed and medicine administered to reduce the inflammation. He will be laid up for some time to come

LIGHTNING STROKE.

Bolt Strikes the House of Mrs. M. A. Taylor,

Shattering a Chimney and Slightly Shocking the Inmates—Narrow Escape.

During the storm last evening lightning struck the residence of Mrs M A. Taylor, on Howell street, the bolt shattering the chimney and a portion of the roof. Mrs. Taylor and a neighbor were seriously though not dangerously shocked by the bolt, and the entire neighborhood was more or less frightened. Several trees in the vicinity of the city were struck by lightning but no further damage to buildings is reported.

UNEARTHED A GIANT

Dr. J. M. Shutt and Jesse Schild Explore a Mound.

They Find Bones of a Mammoth Human Being—Further Investigations Soon to be Made.

Dr. J. M. Shutt, of Lakeside, and Jesse Schild, of the Keller Dental company, were given authority a few days ago by Marion Thompson to explore an Indian mound on his farm in the extreme northeastern part of Huntington county. The doctor is a great relic hunter and had his eye on the coveted spot for a long time, so he proceeded there yesterday with implements to proceed with his investigations, and Mr. Schild assisted him The mound is thirty six feet one way and thirty-seven feet the other and nine feet high. As a result of their search they unearthed a number of Indian skeletons, the largest being that of a giant eight feet and two inches in length The skull of this human mammoth was five eighths of an inch thick. The doctor brought the bones home with him, as well as numerous other relics from the mound.

While in Huntington Dr Shutt met a farmer named John Geeseman, of whom he procured another interesting relic in the shape of a double egg, the outside shell of which is nine inches in circumference one way and seven and three-quarter inches the other way. A small aperture in the outside shell was broken by Mr. Geeseman, showing a perfectly formed egg of the ordinary size upon the inside. This marvel of hen fruit was the product of a Plymouth rock hen.

IN EXCELLENT SHAPE.

The county infirmary farm never looked in a finer condition than it does at present and everything about this institution, where our poor are cared for reflects credit upon Superintendent Felts, who has been in charge of the home and farm for nearly two years. A brief visit to the place yesterday afternoon by a SENTINEL representative showed the farm prospering under the management of Superintendent Felts The crops are looking finely and in grain, fruit and vegetables of all kinds will compare favorably with those in any part of the county. There are now nearly ninety patients at the institution. They are being nicely treated and all the departments of the infirmary show cleanliness and the exercise of care in their management. Superintendent Felts is proving a capable and popular public official.

Opal rings at Dallas F. Green's.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon occurred the death, at the St Joe hospital of Mrs Catherine Lawler, wife of Bartholomew Lawler, of Columbia City. Death was caused from paralysis, from which the unfortunate lady has suffered for several years. She leaves a husband and several children. The remains were taken to Columbia City for burial.

TURNING OVER.

Many Republicans Who Will Vote the Democratic Ticket

Dr J. M. Shutt, of Lakeside, has returned from Grant and Huntington counties where he has been for the last two weeks on professional business. During his absence the doctor had the opportunity to sound public sentiment in the various places where he had been on the silver question. He says that many republicans have expressed their determination to vote this year for Bryan and free silver.

"You seldom hear," he said, "of a democrat who is going to bolt the ticket, and, if you do hear it, it is always added that he is the banker of the place. In almost every neighborhood in the country and in town, I was told of the names of four, five or six men hitherto republicans, who this year would vote with the democrats on account of the silver question.

"At Anderson," the doctor added, "the other night the Bryan club held a business meeting The club now has a membership of 700. Four hundred and fifty members of the club were democrats: 150 were populists, and 100 were republicans, but now they are for free silver and Bryan for president."

FOUND DEAD.

Unknown Body Held by a Pennsylvania Coroner.

Supposed to Have Been a Fort Wayne Citizen—Investigation to be Made.

Today Morgan & Co. received from the coroner of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, a letter of enquiry regarding an unknown man who had been found dead at Jackson's Run, Pa., not far from Pittsburg. The man had evidently been killed by a train, and whether he was a passenger or walking along the track when the accident occurred is not yet known.

The only thing which might possibly lead to identification is a pocketbook bearing the inscription "Morgan & Beach, hardware, Fort Wayne, Ind," which was founnd in the dead man's pockets. S A. Burrowes, of Morgan & Co., told a SENTINEL reporter that about a year ago the firm gave away such pocketbooks to their customers among the mechanics, but of course they cannot remember each individual to whom they presented them.

The following description is given of the dead man: About fifty years old, five feet eight inches in height, weight about 150 pounds, complexion fair, hair brown and short, chin beard and moustache Had on a black suit and blue and white striped shirt.

An effort is being made to find out whether the deceased is a Fort Wayne man or not.

Our base ball cranks will be lonely for awhile. There will be no more games in this city until the last of the month.

The republicans of this county will hold their nominating convention on Saturday of this week.

The bicycle is reported to have cut off half the demand for cigars and greatly reduced the number of schooners of beer. The bicycle is seldom tied up in front of a saloon.

The health authorities are to be complimented on the excellent sanitary condition of the city. Their reports show few cases of contagious diseases—and far less than for the month of August in former years.

Those who have suffered from the oppressive heat of the last few weeks enjoyed the solid comfort of the cool wave that the storm of last night brought. It is only temporary, however, for old Sol will give us more scorching days during this month.

In face of the evidence that alcohol largely increases the danger of prostration from heat, there should be a careful abstinence from spirituous beverages during the hot weather. Many of the fatal cases from sunstroke during the present torrid wave have been chargeable to liquor, and where this complication is present the chances of recovery are greatly lessened. "Soft drinks" are the price of safety during the present condition of the mercury.

Sorting and Sifting Out the Gold.

Those who heard Judge Taylor's speech on the money question at the Masonic Temple last Thursday evening, or who have read it as reproduced in pamphlet form for use in the republican campaign, will recall the picture it presents of the careful sorting—and sifting over all sorts and varieties of money by banks and bankers, and how on the instant spur of the moment, the gold would be taken and the silver and other forms of money would be refused as unfit for use, if silver money should be restored to its rightful place in the national coinage. This picture of the manner of sorting and sifting out the good money from the bad, is just and true enough, both in conception and detail. The only trouble about it is found in its application. The artist evidently intended it for future, not for present, application. He was representing that which is to be, rather than what is, or has been. The picture must therefore be classed among prophetic, rather than historical paintings.

It probably did not occur to the judge that the great mistake in his work is in not applying it to existing conditions at the sub-treasury, which fit it exactly, instead of defering it for future ones that probably will never exist; for the sorting out and selecting only gold at the sub-treasury for the use of foreign banks and treasuries, and leaving nothing but the refuse for home use, exactly fits both the existing condition of things at the treasury and the minutest detail of the picture.

At no other national treasury than our own can there be found a like daily routine of sorting out gold for export to European treasuries, banks and bankers, and leaving only the "refuse" for American use.

President Harrison is responsible for the introduction of this vicious practice of sorting out American gold for use in foreign countries, by disregard of the law of government option, to pay current demands in gold or silver coin, at discretion—a law as indispensible to the maintenance and preservation of the national finances in time of peace, as are the army, navy and coast defenses for the national defense in time of war. Without this right of option in the government to meet current demands in gold or silver coin at its discretion, it is simply impossible to maintain the bimetallic system of gold and silver money established by the constitution for the national finances. Without this essential means of self defense, the gold and silver money basis of the constitution, would be but another form of the single gold basis that is sought to be substituted for it. That this right of government option in the use of the one coin or the other in financial emergencies does not exist in single gold standard countries, is not because it would not be as safe and helpful in emergencies there as elsewhere, but only because there is no ground or room for it to work on, for where there is but one thing to be done, or had on demand, there can be neither option nor choice in the doing or the having of it. It is but the case of "Hobson's choice" or none, over again.

Though Mr. Harrison was the first to attempt to break down this law of government option to pay current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, Mr. Cleveland has gone so far ahead of him in efforts to substitute the single gold standard for that of the gold and silver one of the constitution, that he has come to be recognized as the author of it. Besides the two hundred million dollars product of our gold mines during his administration, and what gold he could get out of the revenues, he has wasted $260,000,000 more, as mere incidental expenses of his attempt to drive silver out of the American coinage. His extravagances in these mere incidental expenses of administration almost surpass belief.

Knowledge of the existence of this law of option in the government, to pay all current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, when not otherwise provided, was in itself enough to render resort to its exercise unnecessary until two successive administrations gave public notice that the law would not be enforced. Then, and not until then, the rush on the treasury for gold coin began.

Weary travelers will welcome the new fashioned sleeping car. It has regular staterooms like a ship, and these can be locked. The passenger can stand up to undress and dress. The berths are all one side of a corridor, instead of being on both sides. All this has been accomplished by an ingenious sliding arrangement of partitions, which seems simple now that somebody has thought of it.

It is claimed for an electric carriage constructed in Chicago that it can travel 18 miles an hour. It is propelled by a storage battery fixed under the seat. The crying need of the time is not, however, for pleasure carriages run by mechanical motor, but for heavy hauling wagons thus propelled. It is the huge trucks with the heavy pounding horses attached to them that block, defile and wear out the streets. A horse to a light driving carriage is a pretty sight and one that it would be a pity to lose from among mankind.

One result of the present political campaign will be that the people of the United States will understand the currency question better than they ever did before. They are reading, studying and thinking, and under these circumstances the right side will be very apt to come uppermost in the fall elections. It certainly will if voters dismiss all prejudice from their minds and proceed to get all the light they can on the money question without any reference to anything but just getting light.

Another ducal coronet has been brought to America and offered for sale. It is that of the 19-year-old Duke of Manchester, whose shrewd Yankee mother wants some American millionaire to buy for her daughter a partnership in the ducal title. Some of our Croesuses will now be sorry they so soon permitted their daughters to become engaged to just common American young men.

Even Venezuela is on a better financial footing than the United States. Her income is more than sufficient to meet the running expenses of her government.

Yellow fever is now fighting powerfully on the side of the Cuban patriots.

THE BRAIN CAN GROW

Recent experiments by M. Vitzon, a French physiologist, lead to a somewhat sensational conclusion and may possibly explain some wonderful and inexplicable recoveries from brain injury that have been reported in the past. That conclusion, briefly stated, is that a part of the brain, when entirely destroyed or removed, may be replaced by the growth of new brain cells.

If this be true, then the brain—the dominating organ of the animal economy—possesses a property that is shared by none of the lower organs over which it presides—namely, that of natural replacement after injury. If a man's finger is cut off by a circular saw, no one expects to see a new finger grow out in its place; if he loses an eye, we do not look for another to replace it. Yet if M. Vitzon is right, the destruction of an important lobe of the brain—for instance, that which presides over sight—need not be hopeless. The cells will gradually form again and respond to the visual impressions received through the optic nerve as before.

This property of regrowth is common among the lower creatures. If a lobster's claw be taken off, a new one will grow in its place. With still lower organisms the removal of almost any amount of tissue is scarcely a serious affair, and its replacement is largely a matter of time. Now it appears that the higher animals share this power, at least with respect to one organ, and that the most important of all.

This is not altogether a new idea. It has been advanced before and has even been made the subject of a somewhat heated controversy, but M. Vitzon's experiments are so apparently decisive that they may settle the matter, although in science all questions are open, and no one may consider that he has said a permanent "last word." However this may be, these are the experiments that seem to settle the matter. They were tried not on man, it is unnecessary to say—for it is not yet legal to scoop out even part of a human brain while its owner yet lives—but on some of his nearest relatives among the lower animals—namely, monkeys. The opponents of vivisection would doubtless raise their voices in energetic protest at the cruelty shown to these creatures. That experimentation of this kind must necessarily be cruel few will deny, but to the enthusiastic physiologist cruelty is quite justifiable when it leads to the acquisition of scientific knowledge.

In this case that part of the brain which presides over the sense of sight was removed from each of the monkeys, the part without which any one of us would be quite as blind as if his eyes were put out. It was quite evident, after the operation, that the animals were, in fact, totally blind. They were kept and cared for, and as the months went on they seemed to be on the way to recovery. Finally in about a year's time it was evident that they saw, if not as perfectly as before at least partially—that is, something was performing the functions of the removed brain tissue. So far the experiment can hardly be said to be conclusive, for cases have been known where one part of the brain has been able to perform the duty of another part. It may have been, then, that the task of responding to visual impressions had been learned by some other part of the brain. The monkeys were therefore operated upon again—part of the skull was removed and the brain was examined. The part that had been taken out was found to be partly replaced by a growth of new cells, so that it seems practically certain that it was this new brain growth that had been the cause of the partial restoration of sight.

What will all this lead to? If it will be of any benefit to the human race, then the poor monkeys suffered and died in a good cause. If a monkey's brain cells can grow again, so, undoubtedly, can a man's, and this fact gives us reason to hope for recovery in cases of serious brain injury that before seemed hopeless. Again, if such growth is possible, means of fostering and stimulating it are probable and will doubtless be the objects of further research. Some method may even be discovered by which the new growth may be made more vigorous and healthy than the old, in which case startling and sensational results may follow, though this may seem to be looking a little too far into the realms of mere possibility. But why should not a weak part of the brain be cut out and replaced with a new and healthy growth of brain cells? Why should not the idiot be given in this way a new thinking machine and the imbecile, the paranoiac, the crank, be fitted out with new mental apparatus?

In the days to come the statement that John Smith has just been growing a new cerebellum in the hospital may be heard with no more surprise than is now caused by the news of an operation for appendicitis. The question would then arise, Who is the reconstructed John Smith? Has his personality altered? Is he the same or another? But this must be left to the psychologists and the courts of law of the year 1950 or thereabout.—New York Herald.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII

The Most Magnificent Spectacle of Modern Times.

MANY STARTLING SITUATIONS.

Historical Production of the Doomed City in Which 350 Handsomely Costumed Persons Will Take Part—Brilliant Display of Fireworks.

Fort Wayne is soon to witness the Last Days of Pompeii. The magnitude and enormous expense of operating this big open air exhibition has heretofore prevented its production in any but the large cities of the country, and it was secured for four nights, commencing Monday night, Aug 17.

A faint idea of the magnitude of this stupendous show may be had when one carefully considers the fact that the scenery alone used to produce a miniature likeness of the doomed city of Pompeii, covers an area of over five acres of ground and is mounted on massive frames of wood and iron. Real buildings, 20 to 50 feet in height, represent historically famous structures, while in the background towers grim old Vesuvius, nearly 100 feet high.

On a mammoth stage in front of the scenic city 350 gorgeously costumed performers participate in the glittering spectacle. There will be five exciting Roman hippodrome races, by sixteen beautiful thoroughbred horses and daring male and female drivers; a large ballet of fifty pretty girls; a big specialty company of noted sensational performers; an array of skilled athletes and acrobats in all feats and postures of the Roman hippodrome; intricate evolutions of the Roman guards and Pompeiian maidens, and enchanting music by a big military band of twenty-five musicians. In front of this great stage, and flowing between the audience and the performers, is a large lake of real water, which is covered with gaily illuminated gondolas, etc.

During these revelries the volcano begins to show signs of bursting forth, and the festivities are finally brought to an abrupt termination by the flood of real fire and lava from the treacherous Vesuvius, preceded by flashes of lightning and startling earthquake shocks. The doomed city is soon buried in the fiery debris and its hundreds of people seem to have perished with it, so mysteriously have they disappeared.

Grand as have been all the scenes leading up to this startling climax, the most beautiful feature of the gorgeous scene is yet to follow, for above the ruins of the desolated city takes place a magnificent display of Paine's renowned Manhattan Beach fireworks, introducing all the novelties of aerial and aquatic pyrotechnics. One thousand dollars is nightly expended in the fireworks display alone.

Excursion rates have been granted on all railroads entering Fort Wayne during the Last Days of Pompeii engagement, and this will be a rare opportunity for our people to witness what is unquestionably the greatest open air attraction ever seen in this country.

Among the Americans seeking health in Switzerland is Clinton P. Ferry, of Tacoma, Washington, who is well known in Fort Wayne. Mr. Ferry was born in this city, spent his boyhood here and quite a few of his companions of those early days are now among our prosperous business men, all of whom will remember him well. He settled in Tacoma in its infancy and did much toward its development, hence he is referred to as the "Duke of Tacoma." Wise investments made him wealthy, but his failing health of late years prevented the full enjoyment that riches sometimes bring and he has found it necessary to spend much of his time abroad. Mr. Ferry is now at Geneva under the care of a physician. His daughter, a highly educated lady, who visited here a few years ago, is with him.

Col. W. T. Royse has returned to this city from Lakeside, Ohio, the summer resort and assembly grounds on the edge of Lake Erie, where he was attending the exercises of Ben Hur day last week. He says the meeting was a great success and was attended by 900 members of the order. Colonel Royse will be at the Ben Hur meeting to be held Friday evening at Vordermark's hall, over Thing & Co's store, when a scribe will be elected for the new court now being organized in this city and other important business transacted. The meeting will be an open one and all persons, whether members or not, will be welcomed to attend it.

RACED FOR A WOMAN.

RIVALS SETTLE A QUESTION OF LOVE IN A NOVEL WAY.

By Agreement They Run a Hundred Yard Dash For Rosa Fraunce—She Witnessed the Struggle—The Winner Danced With Her In Token of His Victory.

Samuel Levy and Harry Fales went to Ridgewood, N. J., the other day and ran a 100 yard dash. Levy won the race, and now all the belles and beaus in east side social circles of New York are talking about the victory. The stake was the love of a young woman. When the victor crossed the line, he knew that his only rival to the heart and hand of Rosa Fraunce had been disposed of for all time.

Young Levy ran 100 yards and sprinted into the affections of the girl in exactly 11 seconds.

The events leading up to the race form the component parts of a story alike unique and romantic. Rosa Fraunce is 18 years old and has lived on the east side all her life. Two years ago she met Harry Fales at a dance. A week later she met Samuel Levy at another dance. At that time Fales was the champion concertina player of the east side and assistant application clerk at the branch office of the Consolidated Gas company, corner of Hester and Elizabeth streets. He is still in their employ. Five minutes after he had met the girl he avowed his love. Ten minutes after Samuel Levy had met her he insisted that he would be her "steady" or know the reason why.

Fales and Levy were members of the Eureka Social club. The president of the Eurekas is Jack Goldstein. When he learned the truth, he called the two lovers to him and said:

"Say, it looks to me as if the best thing you fellows can do is to settle this without trouble. You both think you are sprinters, and why not make a match of it? Say you run a hundred yards at the next outing of the club, and the man who wins gets the girl." Both Levy and Fales agreed to the proposition. The young woman was interviewed, and she promptly declared that the man who won the race could be her "steady" for all time. Then the rivals began active training.

The members of the Eureka and their friends went over to Ridgewood the other day and cheerfully paid their way into the Coliseum park. For two hours they danced and talked about the race. At 4 o'clock Miss Fraunce arrived.

Presently the rivals appeared. Levy came first. He weighed in at 275 pounds. He had trained off 25 pounds and said he would "win in a walk." Fales soon arrived. He is built on the Fitzsimmons plan and looked like an overgrown youth. Half an hour later the distance had been measured off on a strip of level turf. The runners rolled up their trousers and took off superfluous clothing. Then the word was given, and they were off.

Fales was the first to get away, and when half the distance had been covered he was a yard in front and running easy. But Levy suddenly roused himself, and by a great burst of speed closed the gap. Half a dozen yards from the tape they were shoulder to shoulder, and everybody was wildly cheering. Then came the final spurt, and as the white tape parted Levy was in front. At his heels was the disconsolate Fales.

The young woman had been a silent witness of the race. She gave her hand to the winner, and they led in the dance.—New York Journal.

BUNKOED A BUNKOER.

Thompson Got Money, but Was Fooled When He Tried to Get a Wife.

William Haddock, a wealthy farmer of 70, was sitting in front of his beautiful home near Watertown, N. Y., Sunday evening, when a well dressed, dapper looking fellow of perhaps 20 approached.

"I am ex-Assemblyman G. C. Lewis of Lewisville," remarked the stranger. "I was robbed of $200 on the train, and I want to borrow $25 until tomorrow, when I'll meet you down in Watertown at 2 p. m. and repay you."

Farmer Haddock handed over the sum to the "assemblyman" without question. Next day he drove to Watertown; but, though he waited at the appointed place more than an hour, his debtor did not appear. "Assemblyman Lewis" was at that time 20 miles away, wooing Maggie Bigelow, the pretty 17-year-old daughter of Farmer Edward Bigelow. Maggie's beauty and her father's bank roll proved an irresistible combination, and yesterday, 24 hours after "Lewis" met her, they were engaged to be married.

Farmer Haddock in some way learned all this, and he set out to combine forces with Farmer Bigelow. In Watertown they met, and Farmer Bigelow's anger when he learned how his daughter had been duped may be imagined. Together they started out for the Bigelow farmhouse. Before they arrived there the "assemblyman" had hitched up a horse and, with his bride elect, had started for Carthage in quest of a minister. The two farmers got a speedier horse and drove after the couple the 20 miles to Carthage. There they found bunkoer and bunkoed in a hotel parlor waiting for the knot tier. Farmer Bigelow was eager to use a shotgun on "Lewis," but was prevented. He took his daughter home and, so the story goes, gave her an old fashioned spanking.

Farmer Haddock gave the bunkoer over to the custody of the constable. His real name is George C. Thompson, and farmers all over the state have been his victims. He had $1,500 in his possession when arrested.—New York World.

A BARRIER TO CUPID.

New Law Enacted In Canada to Stop Runaway Matches.

The new marriage law of the province of Ontario will make it more difficult than heretofore for American couples who cross the border for the purpose of contracting a secret marriage. Hundreds, if not thousands, of such marriages have for many years taken place annually, especially at Windsor, which is only a ferryboat ride from Detroit, the only requisite being that the groom should secure, for the sum of $2, a license from a person authorized to issue such document.

Under the new law, however, no certificate or bann can be issued until affidavit is made by both of the contracting parties that no impediment exists which will tend to prevent the marriage as contemplated. Moreover, when either of the contracting parties is under the age of 18 the written consent of the parents or guardian of such party must be appended to the affidavit. It is also provided that no marriage shall be solemnized when either party is under the age of 14.

The commissioners of the Salvation Army are authorized to solemnize marriages when empowered to do so by the executive officers of that organization. The new law, it is believed, will put a quietus on runaway marriages and the union of minors.

OBJECT TO A NUDE STATUE.

Mr. McKim's Gift to the Boston Public Library May Not Be Accepted.

A nude bronze statue of a bacchante, the work of Mr Frederick MacMonnies, intended to be placed within the fountain of the inner court of the Boston public library, may never delight the artistic eyes of modern Athens. Such a decided "kick" has come from certain influential sources that the trustees may refuse to accept the gift.

It is offered by Mr. Charles T. McKim, who constructed the building. The figure is about life size and represents a girl laughing, as she trips along, at a baby, who sits in the fold of her left arm and reaches toward a bunch of grapes which she is dangling above the child. The whole figure is full of life and joyousness. It was first exhibited in Paris and was much admired.

Mr. McKim is cognizant of the objections made to the statue, which cost him many thousands of dollars, and it is questionable if he will allow himself the humiliation of a refusal. He will, it is thought, dispose of it otherwise.—New York Herald.

Men and Women.

The pictures of the women who attended the recent conventions at Chicago and St. Louis as compared with those of the men illustrate an interesting point. Many of these women came from small western and southern towns, and it was noticeable that all of them aimed at New York styles in their dress. They may have aimed badly, and in some cases their target was a year or two behind the day, but their intention was apparent. The men from the same towns preserved their characteristic dress, and there was no indication that it was in any way affected by New York styles. If they came from a town where broad brimmed felt hats and low cut waistcoats were still fashionable, they wore them. Their wives, however, were more or less in line with what is or has been the fashion in this city.—New York Sun.

JAKIE, COURT MUSICIAN.

A Promise Made by Mr. Bryan Long Years Ago.

When William J. Bryan was nominated by the Chicago convention for president, he stated that he had made no pledges or promises. From a letter received by C. M. Kissell of Springfield, O., from Ella Landis of Salem, Ills., Mr. Bryan did make a promise which he will be called upon to keep, though it was made when he was a mere lad. According to her letter Mr. Bryan and Jacob Chance were chums when boys in the little town of Salem, and she refers to them as "Billie" and "Jakie."

One day they were talking about what they would do when they were men, and "Jakie" said he would be a fine musician, and "Billie" said he would be a congressman and then president and that he would make "Jakie" court musician. As soon as "Jakie" heard of Mr. Bryan's nomination he telegraphed his congratulations and signed the message, "Jakie, court musician."

Mr. Chance is a resident of Pennsylvania, and is an organist in a church at a salary of $1,500 a year. He has the reputation of being a very fine musician, so that he has accomplished his aim in life, and the indications at present are good that Mr. Bryan will do likewise.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CONVENTION OF CARRIERS.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the national convention of letter carriers, which is to open at Grand Rapids Sept. 1. The convention will be under the auspices of the National Letter Carriers' association, and distributors of missives from all points within a radius of 200 miles of Grand Rapids will be in attendance. Monday, the opening day of the convention, being Labor day and a national holiday, the entire force of Chicago carriers, under General Superintendent Frederick F. Stell, will go to Grand Rapids. They will travel in three special trains over the Michigan Central road.

There will be a grand parade upon that day, in which 5,000 carriers will take part. It will be reviewed among others by Postmaster General Wilson, Postmaster Hesing and the postmasters of Milwaukee and Grand Rapids. In the evening there will be a banquet, at which Postmaster General Wilson, Postmaster Hesing, First Assistant Postmaster General F. H. Jones and Superintendent of Free Delivery Machem will respond to toasts. The convention will last several days, and among others there will be in attendance the Pullman band and the Postoffice Clerks' Cycle club of Chicago.—Chicago Post.

SHOP AND RAIL.

The Wabash Shops Will Cease Operations for Awhile.

Hot Weather Supposed to be the Cause —The Storm Interferes With an Excursion.

J. B. Barnes, superintendent of motive power of the Wabash, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, bring ing unwelcome news to the shopmen at this point. Shortly after Mr. Barnes' arrival, orders were issued to the effect that the shops would be closed indefinitely, and the order went into effect at once. There is some work, however, which could not be delayed, and thirty or forty men have been retained to finish it. The cause of the suspension is not stated, but it is understood to be in part due to the hot weather and consequent illness of a number of employes. About 200 men are affected.

SMALL EXCURSION TO ROME CITY

On account of special attractions at Rome City today, the Grand Rapids and Indiana road ran an excursion train from Winchester to that resort. Unfortunately for the company, the rain which prevailed nearly all night in this part of the state, increased in severity as the hour for the departure of the train arrived, and when it reached this city there were only about twenty five excursionists aboard. The railway people had reasons for believing that the excursion would number ber several hundred people and had made ample provisions for their accommodation. The disappointment was great.

IMPORTANT TELEGRAPHIC DISCOVERY

A description of a new electric telegraph has been forwarded to the department of state at Washington by Mr. Robert Kirk, consul at Copenhagen. The apparatus, which is described in a Danish newspeper, was constructed by a young boatswain in the Danish navy, and makes it possible to communicate with a ship at a certain anchor ground without any direct line from the land. An electric battery is placed on the shore with one pole in contact with water or moist earth, while the current from the other pole through a telegraph key and revolution interrupter is conducted to a cable which is laid out to the anchor ground and placed around the latter in a coil with a diameter of 1,200 feet. On board the ship, which is situated at anchor ground or a short distance outside the coils, that is small solenoid with which a telephone is connected. When a message is sent from the land a bell sounds on the ship and the communication is sent by the telegraph key through the telephone instrument The signals may be based on the Morse alphabet. The apparatus may also be so constructed that an answer can be sent from the ship. The inventor thinks he will succeed in making it possible to speak through the instrument as in the case of the common telephone. Vessels at sea, it is said, will be able to telegraph to each other when each have a solenoid on board. The distance at which they will be able to do so will depend on the length of wire and strength of the electric batteries.

BRIEF MENTION.

Wabash engine 393 has been sent here for repairs

Frank Harter, of the store room at the electric works, is sick.

Master Mechanic George James, of Stony Island, was in the city yesterday.

F. P. Moyridge has been appointed agent of the Nickel Plate at Philadelphia.

Daniel Shea, Nickel Plate conductor, reported for duty yesterday, after a few days' absence.

Charles Gavin, of the construction force of the electric works, is thirty-one years old today.

Nickel Plate Conductor Baum has gone to Burr Oaks, Ind., to take charge of a gravel train.

The roads are getting new freight cars built at $300 apiece, the lowest figure ever known.

The Bass works yesterday shipped another carload of tank material to Ocean Grove, N. J.

After a few days' illness Henry Dannmeyer has returned to work in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop.

Peter Hoerner, who had been on the sick list, resumed his place in the Bass blacksmith shop this morning.

Among the sick Pittsburg shopmen today are H. Rathert, H. Campbell, R Krull, Cy Johnson and L. F. South.

Charlie Young, of the draughting department at the Bass works, is taking a few days vacation to attend the races.

Walter Adams, machinist at the Bass works, is looking after some private affairs and will be absent from the shop a few days.

I. P. Kickley, Pennsylvania passenger conductor, is troubled with neuralgia of the stomach and was unable to take his train out today.

E. Lenz, who had one of his hands cut by a buzz saw five weeks ago, took his old position in the Pittsburg planing mills this morning.

Fireman George Weisell, of the Nickel Plate, has an eleven pound son, who came yesterday to assume charge affairs at that household.

The Baltimore and Ohio is laying new heavy steel on its main line at the rate of a half mile a day, largely at points where there are curves.

T. C. Stonebrook, F. Kramer and J. Sanders, of the Pittsburg planing mills, have taken a lay off to attend the races. They are enthusiastic turfmen.

Machinist Fred Olds, of the Pittsburg, picked up a pair of silver bowed spectacles on the company's tracks, near Hanna street, last night.

Bertie Bates, son of the Pittsburg bridge carpenter, L E Bates, has so far recovered from an attack of typhoid pneumonia as to be able to sit up.

Brakeman George Horton, of the Nickel Plate, who was kept from his work for some days on account of the illness of his wife, reported yesterday.

On Thursday of last week the New York Central carried twenty-two car loads of passengers, with more than 400 pieces of baggage, to the Adirondacks.

John Fetterly and I. S Merriman, engineers on the Wabash, are confined to their homes in Toledo by sickness. They were prostrated by the heat last Sunday.

Joseph Sucup, of the Bass foundry, has moved with his family into a cozy new house on East Creighton avenue, which property he purchased a few days ago.

Mrs. J. H. Sweer, wife of the well known Pennsylvania shopman, is recovering from a severe illness and her husband has resumed work after a several days' absence

Mrs. Murray, of Grand Rapids, who was the guest of Fort Wayne friends for awhile, left this morning for Chicago to visit her sister. Mr. Murray is baggagemaster on the Grand Rapids road.

While it is but a month before the time fixed for the foreclosure sale of the Philadelphia and Reading road, it is believed in eastern financial circles that the property will not at that time be sold.

It is stated that the Pennsylvania company is considering the consolidation of the Cleveland and Pittsburg with the Panhandle and the establishing of a new line between Cincinnati and Cleveland.

A trunk line official, in commenting on the situation with the railways, says business with the trunk lines is very dull. Earnings are falling off, and this is rather discouraging, but a gratifying feature is the strict maintenance of rates by all important lines.

Of the 153 736 tons of east bound freight out of Chicago last week, the railways only carried 49,126 tons, the balance, 104 610 tons, going by the lakes. The lake carriers have made a low rate on grain and the bulk of that class of freight is now by boat

A call has been issued for a meeting of the stockholders of the Columbus and Hocking Valley road, to be held September 8 at Columbus, to vote on the proposed issue of $30,000,000 4 per cent gold bonds to refund outstanding bonds and furnish additional capital.

Joseph Ryanski stopped off here yesterday to see his former shop mates. He is now foreman of the air brake department of the Pennsylvania shops at Wellsville, Ohio, and is en route to Garrett, Ind., to visit his parents. Four or five years ago Mr. Ryanski worked in the Fort Wayne shops.

H. C. Greenland and M. Brucks, Pittsburg firemen, will go east to work on the Cleveland and Pittsburg branch of the Pennsylvania system during the rush of the coal and ore traffic, or until their services are demanded upon this branch of the road. Bernard Gillen and Herbert Wells have been working on that road for two weeks now, and they will probably stay there the balance of the season.

C. F. Clugston, commercial agent of the Grand Rapids road at Muskegon, Mich., was in the city last evening for the purpose of looking after some unfinished business of C. W. Lanning, traveling agent, who has resigned to go with the Baltimore and Ohio road. Mr. Lanning's friends among shippers at this point will be interested in knowing that he is about to step into a much more lucrative position.

An item is going the rounds of the press to the effect that the board of managers of the Joint Traffic association is living in lavish style in New York City, when, in fact, the board has not the conveniences to which it is entitled, and instead of taking meals at one of the best New York hotels, the members take them at an eating house near by, and recently notified the manager of the dining hall that unless better food is furnished the board will seek other quarters. No one who visits the place of meeting will come away with any idea that the rooms are even pleasant headquarters, they being too limited for the board and its clerical force.

Some railroad men believe that Charles Neilson, first assistant postmaster general, inspired the action of the postmaster general in regard to baggage mail. Mr. Neilson is an old railroad man and understands the subject thoroughly. He was once superintendent of the Erie's Buffalo division and lived in Buffalo. After leaving Buffalo he became general superintendent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, and when Ives, the late Napoleon of finance, made his famous coup and obtained possession of the Vandalia Mr. Neilson was, for the time being, in charge of that company's operations. As everyone knows the big deal went to the wall. Later on Mr. Neilson went into the government service in the position that he now holds.

CRATER LAKE THE SUBJECT OF INVESTIGATION.

The United States Fish Commission Has Just Dispatched an Expedition to Oregon's Wonderful Body of Water—May Be Stocked.

(Washington Letter.)

THE United States Fish Commission has just sent an expedition to investigate the famous Crater Lake in Oregon. This is the deepest body of fresh water in America. Only one lake in the world is deeper — namely, Baikal, which exceeds it in depth by about 40 feet. Until recently it was asserted that Crater Lake was bottomless, but soundings have proved that its greatest depth is 2,000 feet. It is five miles in diameter, nearly circular, and occupies the crater of an extinct volcano.

Now, no fish have ever been known to exist in Crater Lake. Not long ago a request that it be stocked with trout was sent to Washington by the Mazamas, who are a club of mountain-climbers having headquarters at Portland. Mazama is the Indian name for mountain goat. These climbers are anxious to angle in the extinct crater, and the government experts are going to find out whether or not such a thing is practicable. It is easy enough to put trout into the water, but that would be of no use unless there is food for them there. Trials will be made for the purpose of ascertaining how much food there is and whether or not it is of a kind suitable for speckled beauties to browse upon.

This will be accomplished by towing small nets of gauze along the surface of the water. The water will flow through the gauze, which will catch all the animalculae that come in its way. The quantity of the latter secured in a given number of minutes or hours will be an accurate measure of the amount of fish food present. They will be bottled and preserved in formaline for subsequent examination by a specialist, who will determine the species represented. Chiefly they will be little shrimps and other small crustaceans, and there will be some insects also. It will be necessary to make the towings at different hours of the day because some crustaceans swim near the surface only in the morning, others at midday, and others yet in the evening. Shady areas as well as sunny ones must be sought for various species.

There are very few places in the entire lake where the depth is less than 1,600 feet, though it shoals off somewhat in the southwest part. One line of soundings registered over 1,900 feet for a distance of two miles. These depths are unapproached by any other lake in the western hemisphere.

No wonder, then, that Crater Lake was supposed to be bottomless. However, the truth is that all lakes over 1,500 feet deep possess a similar reputation. Any body of water that is deeper than the length of the longest fishing line is sure to lack a bottom in the popular belief. A first-rate example of this sort of delusion is afforded by Payette Lake, in Idaho. It was formerly imagined to be bottomless, and later its depth was officially stated at 2,600 feet. Recent investigation proves that its greatest depth is 365 feet. There are no data on which to base a guess as to the bottom temperature of Crater Lake, but the supposition is that it will be very little above freezing. The temperature of the ocean depths remains at about forty degrees Fahrenheit all the year round, even in the tropics. Nevertheless, some volcanic heat may yet remain to warm the waters of Crater Lake.

Geologists regard Crater Lake as quite a wonderful phenomenon. Its surface is 6,329 feet above sea level. It is situated seventy-five miles east of Rogue river valley, through which the Oregon and California Railroad passes, and may be reached by a picturesque mountain road. It is in the midst of one of the most attractive geological fields in the world. Lying in the summit of the Cascade range, about midway between Mount Shasta and Mount Hood, it is especially remarkable on account of its beauty and the grandeur of its encircling cliffs. This mountain summit is a broad platform topped by numerous volcanoes. One of these volcanoes, Red Cone, takes its name from the color of the debris with which it is covered. Rising to about 1,000 feet above the plain, it is surmounted by a hopper-shaped crater several hundred feet across and of great depth.

Red Cone is situated two miles from the northwest shore of Crater Lake. The color of the latter is ultramarine, bordered by turquoise along the shores. Set in majestic cliffs, it is a natural jewel. Beautiful and attractive as it is, it serves but to conceal the greater wonder—namely, the stupendous pit or basin in which it is contained. Although there are thousands of craters in this country, there is but one great one, and that contains Crater Lake. The diameter of the top of the pit is nearly six miles, and its depth is 4,000 feet. Its bottom is lower than the foot of the Cascade range, and is approximately a plain, judging from the surroundings. To the westward a mountain peak rises from the bottom, its top forming Wizard Island.

Wizard Island is itself an extinct volcano. It is surmounted by a cinder cone, and in its top is a crater 150 feet deep. It is thought that the shoaling of the lake in its southwestern part is due to lava poured out by this small but once energetic volcano. The latter, which is simply a pile of lava 2,500 feet in height, was certainly active only a few centuries ago. But there was a time when there was neither pit nor lake, and instead might have been a single enormous cone towering into the sky like Shasta or Hood and forming a prominent peak of the range. Some tremendous geologic catastrophe broke off the top of the cone. Probably it will always remain a mystery how this huge mountain, nearly six miles in diameter and a mile higher than at present, was removed, and in what manner the pit now occupied by Crater Lake was produced.

A VIEW OF THE GREATER LAKE.

It might be imagined that the top of the mountain was blown off, but geologists do not believe that this was the case. The probability is that the molten contrails of the giant volcano found an outlet near its base and escaped there. Thus the top sank in, and the final eruptive effort of the mountain is represented by the cinder cone whose top is called Wizard Island. Crater Lake has no visible outlet, but it is thought that there is a subterranean escape for some of the water. To the north of the lake stands Mount Thielson, which is remarkable for its sharp summit and for the occurrence thereon of a peculiar kind of glass known as "fulgurite." This glass is made by lightning, which strikes the quartz rock and fuses the silica. The peak in question has been such a favorite target for lightning that its glass-covered rocks gleam in the sunlight.

ANDREE'S BALLOON.

Indians Claim to Have Seen It in British America.

Evelyn Baldwin Don't Believe Their Story and Gives His Reasons for the Doubt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—Evelyn B. Baldwin, when asked this morning concerning the reported appearance of Andree's balloon in British America, in latitude 55° 11' longitude 127° 40', said: "I do not believe the report, as welcome as the accomplishment of the achievement would be to me. As late as August 2 or 3 Andree had not yet left Spitzbergen, and he could not, therefore have been 3 000 miles beyond that point on the evening of the 31, as related by the British American Indians. The bright lights seen by them may have been auroral displays. Again Andree expected to land either in latitude 76°, longitude 155°, in the vicinity of Cape Barow, or in latitude 67°, longitude 100°, in the very north portion of British America. Although Andree's airship is a wonderful piece of mechanism and with favorable conditions would undoubtedly accomplish the voyage, I regard the sledge and ship as the only practicable means of accomplishing the conquest of the north Still, Andree's effort must be regarded in the nature of a scientific experiment Should he lose, he alone will suffer most; should he win, the world will be the gainer thereby."

AMERICA TRIUMPHANT.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

There has been a prevalent idea that no matter how valuable the results of American genius and workmanship might be in other things, that when it came to the construction of devises for the human body the BEST could be obtained only from abroad. How thoroughly this idea has been exploded is shown by the following Associated Press Dispatch, as well as by the fact that in the higher circles of medical practice in this country and Europe. The "Banning System" is used exclusively in the treatment of Rupture, Spinal disease and distortion; deformed feet and limbs and all derangements that are the result of the internal organs being out of position. Manufactured only by the E P. Banning, Orthopedic and Mfg. Co., of Willoughby, Ohio.

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO
Oct. 25, 1893.—(Associated Press)—The contest for supremacy as to the best method of treating spinal diseases and deformities was a vigorous and exciting one, over 130 different physicians, inventors and surgical instrument makers being in the lists. The jury awarded the highest and only prize to the method of Dr. E P. Banning, of Cleveland, exhibited as the "Banning's System of Support." The points on which the award was given are lightness, coolness, effectiveness, capacity for accurate adjustment, physiological construction, power to create proper muscular antagonism and remove weight from off the inflamed intervertebral cartilages.

Mr. Editor:

It is a duty I owe the public to state the cure of my daughter's and my own cases by means of Dr. Banning's skillful adjustment of his supports. Three bad curvatures of the spine in my daughter's case were painlessly and promptly removed, and she now is a symmetrical young lady. I suffered for years from a terrible rupture, painful and dangerous in a high degree. I received no relief from the many means I tried Dr Banning, without operation, pain or detention from business, cured me so I can go without a truss I know many others where his skillful application of support has removed their ruptures and other physical disabilities I cordially commend the man and his system to all my friends and will be glad to see anyone on the subject.

Yours truly,

A LITTLE BIT SURPRISING!

Not only for Fort Wayne, but also for any city in the United States.

NEW CARPETS IN AUGUST.

So well known has this carpet house got to be all over this northern part of the state. Carpet orders have been piling in so thick. We had to have the NEW CARPETS at once. Three carpet layers have been busy at work all through the summer season—something unusual.

We Will Show Them to You.

They are all ready: covers off, ready for inspection.

75 ROLLS NEW MATTINGS

In all the new colors, at low prices. When in the store, take elevator to carpet room and see the new Carpets and Mattings, odd room lengths, hall and stair lengths of carpeting, AT A BIG REDUCTION.

Black Goods.

At 10c a yard we show lines of Black Figured Mohairs—just the fabric for the separate skirts so much worn now.

Separate Skirts.

Made of Black Figured Mohairs—in cloak room—so low in price you would not sit down to make one—labor, worry and money saved in the buying.

Handkerchiefs.

It takes just two handkerchiefs this weather to one in cooler and sometimes three.
Piles of Handkerchiefs, 2 for 5c.

Shopmen! Railroad Men!

Generally you pay cash for what you buy and that is wise.
Fifty dollars will buy in a cash store like ours, with the lowest cash prices, about as much as you will get for a hundred dollars in installment stores, where you who pay your bills, have also to help pay for the goods of those who never pay anything.
Some times you need a little credit on a part of your purchase. When you do, don't pay an installment store $10 for an article you could buy of us at $5 or $6, but come to us and we will arrange to give you the little accommodation you need. We would rather do this and suffer a little loss of interest ourselves rather than have our regular customers forced to pay sixty, seventy and even eighty per cent. more for their goods than we would charge them.

"The Nearer the Bone, the Sweeter the Meat"

It's an old and homely adage and finds an application here.

The maker of meat handles has reached the end of his Summer "junket."

His season is about over; yours has just begun.

He's anxious to sell what is left of his made up product at almost any reasonable sacrifice.

We're watching your interests in this matter, and as a result have made purchases that will surprise you by their price cheapness.

Makers of Shirt Waists

Are straining every nerve to get rid of the balance of their season's product. It's a big chance for the consumer to buy these finely Summer garments at a like drop from early season's prices. At least we thought so when we contracted them late. It's a case of quick sale, and first come, first served.

MR. BRYAN SICK.

Suffers With an Acute Attack of Laryngitis.

Governor Stone Will Deliver the Notice of Nomination to Messrs. Bryan and Sewall.

New York, Aug. 12—Wm. J. Bryan, nominee for the presidency, is suffering today from an acute attack of laryngitis. When he arose this morning he could speak only in husky tones, and his condition was such that Mrs. Bryan and Mr. St. John, whose guests Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are, deemed it necessary to send out at once for aspecialist, Dr. F. E. Miller. The physician diagnosed Mr. Bryan's difficulty as above indicated, and expressed the hope that his patient would be able to meet his engagement with the democratic notification committee at Madison Square garden this evening. Under the physician's advice, Mr. Bryan will not leave the house until it is time to go to the mammoth hall in which he is expected to address 15,000 people this evening. At noon Mr. Bryan was enjoying a restful sleep. The only persons who were permitted to see Mr. Bryan today were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bride, of Washington, with whom he boarded while a member of congress. They called in response to a special invitation mailed to them last week.

The first meeting of the day of the committee on notification was to arrange the details for the night. The meeting organized by electing Governor Stone, of Missouri, to serve as chairman. Governor Stone read to the committee the letter from Senator White, of California, who had been originally chosen to deliver the speech of notification, asking the governor to officiate in his stead, on account of his inability to come east for the occasion. The action of Senator White was ratified.

The committee decided to meet at the Fifth avenue hotel tonight and march in a body to Madison Square Garden, then it adjourned.

The program contemplates that Governor Stone shall deliver the notification speech to Mr. Bryan, who will respond. Then with a few words Governor Stone will present to Mr. Sewall the written notification of his nomination, to which the vice presidential candidate will respond briefly.

The interest attached to the second meeting of the national democratic committee at noon was increased by persistent rumors that the members would take action to remove from the committee those men whose absence was alleged to accentuate their objections to the national ticket and platform. Those mentioned as the members to be disciplined include W. F. Harrity, of Pennsylvania; W. F. Sheehan, of New York; French, of Connecticut, and Lawler, of Minnesota. In Sheehan's case, in particular, it was said that the local organizations were persistent in a demand for his removal.

TORRID SPELL BROKEN.

The Excessive Heat of the Past Week Abating.

New York Reports Six Additional Deaths by Sun Stroke—The Weather at Brooklyn.

New York, Aug. 12—There were indications this forenoon that the torrid spell under which this section has suffered with only one slight intermission for two weeks is drawing to a close. The heat, however, was excessive all the night and increased with the rising of the sun, and at 6 a. m. the thermometers down town marked 84 in the shade, the official records, however, being 8° less. A brisk breeze tempered the fervid rays of the sun, even with the humidity 70 per cent. At 10:45 a. m. the weather observer's thermometer showed a temperature of 85°. The pavements, however, have a vast deal of caloric stored in them, which does not make itself manifest in official reports based on observations 100 feet above the street level. Between 2 and 7 o'clock the police had been notified of six deaths as the result of the heat. The names are as follows: William Dempsey, Ann Flood, Ann Kennesally, Henry Daestel, Mary Ann Devine, Edward Albrit. At 9 o'clock a. m. the police records showed that sixteen persons had been treated for sunstroke since 9 o'clock in the morning.

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 12—Six deaths from the heat and many cases of prostration were reported in Brooklyn from midnight last night to 10 o'clock this morning. The list of dead is as follows: Catherine McGrath, aged 45, Frank Rooney, Celia McGonch, aged 22, William MacNamara, aged 70, Edward McCann, aged 60 and an unknown man.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12—Up to 11 o'clock four deaths and a score of prostrations from heat has been reported at police headquarters. The dead are: John Perg, Frederick Sherwin, Cecilina Morris and Hugh Drunn. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometers down on the street ranged from seven to ten degrees higher. Shortly after 9 o'clock a light westerly breeze sprang up and tempered the scorching rays of the sun.

SUED HIS STEPMOTHER.

Viscount Hill Demands the Family Diamonds.

London, Aug. 12—At the Birmingham assizes yesterday Viscount Hill, who was formerly engaged in farming near Florence, Kas., and now of Redford, Out., sued the Dowager Viscountess Hill, his stepmother, to recover the diamonds and jewelry which he claims as heirlooms under the will of his grandmother. Judgement was rendered in favor of the defendant.

CASE SETTLED.

Fella Rousey Got $150 for the Loss of a Hand.

The Way Minnie Fox Has of Settling Even With One Who Prosecuted Her.

Through N. C. Miller, his attorney, Felix G. Rousey, a boy sixteen years of age, through his next friend, Elizabeth Rousey, brought suit in the superior court to recover $2,000 damages from the Horton Manufacturing company. The complaint sets forth that Rousey was an employe for the company and while operating a machine at their factory had his hand so badly mangled by a saw that amputation of the hand was necessary. The defendant filed an answer, and after that the case was settled by the Horton Manufacturing company paying the defendant the sum of $150.

Justice France fined Robert Castle $1 and costs for profanity. The affidavit was filed by Minnie Fox. Some time ago Castle filed an affidavit against Minnie for keeping a house of ill fame. Since then the parties have had quarrels and last evening Castle indulged in profanity in the presence of Minnie. To get even she had him arrested.

Justice Bullerman fined Henry Schrader $10 and costs for maintaining a nuisance. The defendant threw a dead horse in the river and allowed it to remain there. Schrader could not pay the fine and costs and went to jail for twenty eight days.

BICYCLE RACES.

Everything in Readiness for the Great Event.

A Fast Track and the Best Riders of the Age Will Be the Feature of the Meet.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 12—The weather today is all that the visiting wheelmen could desire and they are enjoying themselves to the full extent. A heavy thunder storm last night caused the thermometer to take a tumble and all day a good north breeze has been blowing, which has had the effect of cooling off the atmosphere to such an extent as to make a ride on the wheel thoroughly enjoyable. All the preparations for the races, which begin tomorrow, have been completed and everything is in fine shape, the track being lightning fast. Some good sport is anticipated, and it will not be surprising if old records are lowered and new ones hung up.

In this connection W. C. Pelot, of Chicago, says: "These will be the greatest races in the history of the bicycle. They will be the greatest for the reason that the fastest men in the country, and more of them, will take part in the contests than ever before met at a bicycle track. Another thing, the track is the fastest in the world. All the racers are in excellent condition and eager for the laurels which will fall to the hands of the victorious in these splendid contests. If these conditions do not insure great races I do not know what would."

The small number of lady cyclists present up to date is a cause of remark, but it is expected that by tomorrow quite a large crowd of the fair sex will be in attendance. The century run to Frankfort and return that was to have been taken by the wheelmen at 5 o'clock this morning, was abandoned on account of the bad condition of the roads, caused by last night's storm. Mr. Will Rubey, who had charge of the run to Frankfort, took a party of wheelmen over to the Jeffersonville penitentiary and government depot instead. Runs were also made to New Albany, Morrisville Hill, Falls of the Ohio and Shipping Port, about twenty-five miles from the city.

The grand parade will start at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and after going over the principal streets of the city will wind up at Jacobs' park, where a watermelon feast will be held. Preparations have been made at the park to supply 10,000 wheelmen with watermelons.

This evening, from 8 to 12 o'clock, a reception will be given the visitors at the Iroquois club house, which is located in Southern Park way, half way between Jacobs' park and the city.

TURKS REJECT

The Demands of the Christians of Crete.

Athens, Aug. 12—The Turkish government has flatly rejected the demands of the Christians of Crete, except so far as the provisions of the Halepa convention and general amnesty to the insurgents are concerned.

In a fight at Vodena, Macedonia, between 150 insurgents and a body of 500 Turks the former were reinforced after four hours fighting and routed the Turks, fifty of whom were killed. Macedonian peasants, armed with rifles stolen from the Turks, are joining the Greek raiders.

A TERRIBLE TALE.

Rapine, Murder and Wanton Cruelty in Formosa.

Japanese Soldiers Engaged in a War of Extermination Against the Luckless Formosans.

Victoria B. C., Aug. 12—From Formosa, where for upwards of a year Japanese troops have been vainly striving to crush out the seeds of pestilent opposition to Japan innovations, comes a story which, for barbarous cruelty and defiant violation of all ethics of civilization, has fortunately few parallels in history, even of the savage races of the world.

The terrible tale of rapine, murder and wanton cruelty reached here by the steamer Empress of Japan and fully bears out the statements on the situation in Formosa, given publicly by the Rev. Dr. Mackay on his return to that island six months ago. Other equally creditable correspondents are now the witnesses against Japan and the burden of the arraignment is that, setting neither fame nor profit to be gained in the subjugation of the Formosans by the art of modern warfare, recognized as legitimate by civilized nations, the Japanese troops sent to that land have been embarked in a crusade of blood, their object being to crush out all signs of discontent by, as far as possible, exterminating the native population. In this campaign there were no foreign powers to make protest and no foreign press representatives to herald to the world the atrocities, the toiling of which would bring upon Japan the contempt of all enlightened people.

Says the Tientsin representative of the China Mail: "As a result the policy of extermination has been really pursued from the beginning of the campaign and what with the destruction of their crops, the burning of their villages, the desecration of the graves of their loved ones, the violation of their wives and daughters and the butchery of their innocent children, the people are driven to the last expedients of desperation."

FOREIGN NEWS.

Spain Asks for Bids on a Floating Dock.

The Italian Government Urged to Take Action on the Hainesville Lynching.

Rome, Aug. 12—The provincial newspapers demand that the government take action regarding the Hahnsville lynching. The Corriere Dela Sear, of Milan, declares that until Americans are willing and able to protect the lives of Europeans they had better close their ports entirely to the immigration of whites as a bid against Chinese cheap labor, adding: "Events, such as have occurred at New Orleans and now at Hahnsville, cannot be tolerated by any one having any pretense of civilization."

London, Aug. 12—It is semi-annually stated that there is no truth in the report, published by the Daily Chronicle, of this city, that Great Britain and Russia are on the point of reaching an agreement "to save both Armenia and Crete from Turkish oppression without disturbing the peace of Europe," which agreement it was added, would involve the presence of a Russian army in Armenia and of a British fleet at Crete, to guarantee Turkish compliance with the terms of the agreement." It is stated on the other hand that there is great discord among the powers as to the measures which should be adopted in regard to Crete, and Russia, it is further asserted, is showing marked disinclination to allow great pressure to be brought to bear upon the sultan.

ATTACKS THE GOVERNOR

Claims That the Free Silver Men Are the Bolters and the Gold Men Are Democrats.

Indianapolis, Aug. 12—John R. Wilson, secretary of the national committee of the national democratic party, has addressed an open letter to the governor in reply to the latter's recent interview criticising the sound money democrats. Mr. Wilson gives Thomas Jefferson's convictions against free silver, recites the history of the democratic party, gives a list of defeated bills introduced by populists in congress which would have called for an expenditure of thirty-seven billions of dollars, quotes the utterances to the effect that Bryan is a populist, was elected to overthrow the republic and said he would not vote with the democrats this year, unless a free silver platform were adopted. Mr. Wilson insists that the governor and his friends, not the sound money men, are the bolters and says that the governor shows deep ignorance of the party's history. Also his ignorance of Scripture when he compares the gold men to Judas, when in fact Judas betrayed a great cause for silver.

WHISKY DID IT.

Two Men Shot and Killed at a Political Convention.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 12—Two men were shot and killed and another mortally wounded at the annual convention of the National Party in Gallatin county, Tenn., this morning. Tom Peebles shot and killed Eli Wofford, chief of police of Tehelgush and Charlie Proctor, deputy sheriff and Leonard Williams, sheriff, was wounded fatally. The row originated over the spelling of whisky. Wofford shot Williams as the latter returned the fire, killing Wofford immediately. It is said Wofford's brother killed Charlie Proctor and escaped. The affair has created intense excitement and will serve to break up the convention which would have lasted through the week.

IRISH LAND BILL.

Before the House of Commons Today.

Discussed by Secretary Balfour—Says It Has Been Changed to the Detriment of Tenants.

London, Aug. 12—The Irish land bill, as amended in the house of lords, where it recently passed its third reading, was before the house of commons again today.

The chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Gerald Balfour, indicated the proper course of the government. He said they were prepared to acquiesce in the new turbary clause to Lord Inchiquin's new subscription clause and to the amendment dealing with procedure sales. The other amendments, he added, would be accepted in principle, but on the question of pasture holdings the government would adhere to the old limit and could not accept Lord McNaughton's amendment omitting clause 5.

Mr. Balfour also said that the lords had materially altered the bill to the detriment of the tenants, but he hoped the lords would accept the measure in the shape the commons would return it to them otherwise it would be a calamity to Ireland, including the landlords themselves.

Continuing, the chief secretary said there had been a great change for the better lately in the condition of Ireland, where the intense bitterness was dying out, and were they going to seize the opportunity to reinforce the kindlier feeling prevailing or were they going to justify those who were only too ready to inculcate the most pernicious lesson that for Ireland when intranquil nothing would be done, but for Ireland clamorous and crime indeed no cession would be denied. That was the issue now to be decided and most sincerely prayed that parliament might be wisely guided in arriving at a decision.

BEATEN BY CANADA.

Our Yachts Not Equal to Those of Our Neighbors.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 12—It was decided to here three races today. These will be for forty six footers, forty footers and twenty-five footers. The yachts finished in a twelve mile breeze. Canada finished first in the forty-six foot class. Vivia was first in the forty foot class. Sybil won the twenty-five foot class.

CARE FOR THE HORSE.

During the Hot Weather of Summer.

Instructions Regarding Their Treatment When Overheated, or Interest to Horsemen.

During warm hot weather as we have been having for some time the following instructions regarding the treatment of horses when overheated will be of interest to the many horsemen in this city.

The symptoms of overheating are easily noticed, as the horse will suddenly stop and refuse to work, or, in more severe cases, stagger and fall. The horse should be unharnessed at once and removed to a shady place and freely sprinkled with water, head and body. Sponging the mouth and nostrils with water or with vinegar and water and the application of spirits will gradually revive the animal. In ordinary cases it will take several hours before the horse can be safely removed, as in the process of recovery it is likely to stagger and fall.

The scarifying and bleeding of the mouth and ears, not infrequently practiced by drivers who are frightened and do not know what to do is useless and senseless and only excites the horse, then in a condition where rest and quiet are most essential to recovery.

The prevention of sunstroke lies in the judicious care of the horse at this particular time. The patient and careful driver will have little to fear from the heat, whereas the man who hurries or otherwise abuses his horses invites sunstroke.

It is well to call the attention of drivers and foremen of farms to the liability of horses to sore shoulders at the present time, when perspiration and dust easily irritate the skin. The results are sores, simple abrasions, swellings, galls and abscesses, which, if not properly attended to from the start, may make the horse unserviceable for weeks at a time. Pains should be taken to wash the shoulders of horses with water and soap when they return from the day's work, and if there are any visible swellings or sores they should be bathed with salt and water, and in cases of open or running sores a carbolic salve or other disinfecting ointment should be applied. Unless in this condition should be kept from work until the wounds are healed; although, in cases of small sores, pads of straw or felt may be attached to the collars and other harness parts in such a way as to prevent further irritation and pressure. If this can be accomplished the sores will heal, while at the same time the horse may be moderately worked.

AT AN END.

The Bryan Party Reached New York Last Night.

New York, Aug. 11.—William Jennings Bryan stepped upon the soil of the Empire state last night for the first time since his nomination for the presidency by the democratic national convention at Chicago. The party was taken from the railroad station to the ferry boat. When the boat reached the dock in New York, Captain Cross with a cordon of police held the crowd aboard for a few moments while Bryan, Sewall and the party entered carriages in waiting. When they got outside the ferry gates they found at least 5,000 people waiting, and although the police made all effort to allow the carriage to proceed, it was stopped several times, the last time being when the horses, annoyed and scared by the applause and shouting balked. At the St. Johns house, on Thirty-fourth street, there was another gathering of citizens who applauded vociferously. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Bryan showed much fatigue.

ENGLAND WON

In the Rubber Cricket Match With Australia.

London, Oct 12—The rubber cricket match between England and Australia which commenced on Monday with the English at the bat, was continued today. The English eleven, in its first innings, made 145 runs. The Australians then went in on their first innings and made 113 runs. In their second innings today, the Englishmen made 84 runs, a total of 229 for both innings. The Australians, in their second innings, were out at 11 runs, a total for Australia of 165 runs. Thus England won by 93 runs.

Rich Gold Mines.

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 12.—The richest gold placer mines of Alaska have been transferred to Canadian territory and miners are now paying diggers taxes to British authorities. The territory in question is from three to eight miles in width and embraces the rich placer claims on Ophir and Miller creek, which heretofore were supposed to be in Alaska territory. The transfer of territory is the result of surveys recently made.

Coal Firm Failed.

Chicago, Aug. 12—Watson, Little & Co., one of the largest coal firms in Chicago, made an assignment today to Matthew D. Morton, as assignee. No statement was filed with the assignment. The failure it is said, was caused by a strike of the workmen at the company's mines at Brazil, Ind.

Hockery Renominated.

Canton, Mo., Aug. 12—Congressman A. M. Dockery was renominated by the third district congressional convention which met here yesterday. This is his eighth consecutive nomination by the democrats of the Third district.

IN THE TOILS.

Susie Lyle Charged a Second Time With Theft.

She Is Placed Under Bonds to Stand Trial—Other Police News.

Upon affidavit of Annie Boyer, of Wells street, Susie Lyle was placed under arrest last night, charged with stealing a pair of shoes. She was arraigned in police court this morning and bound over in the sum of $100 to stand trial. The prisoner had no money for friends and went to jail. A few days ago she was charged with stealing a dress from a young lady at the Rand (1 hotel, but was released by the officers because no one wanted to prosecute her. She has lately been boarding with the lady who made the present complaint.

RACES POSTPONED.

Today's Events Will be Run Out Tomorrow.

The managers of the races concluded to postpone today's races until tomorrow, owing to the heavy condition of the track. Today's and tomorrow's program will be run out tomorrow, the races to commence at 12 o'clock. This will make an unusually fine list for tomorrow.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

Good weather brought out a crowd of 1,500 people to witness the races yesterday afternoon at the Driving park. The A. O. U. W. band furnished the music.

The track was fast after the soaking and heating the rain gave it Monday evening. The working it received during the afternoon's events greatly improved it, and it is believed that it will be prime for this afternoon.

The first event on the card was the 2:20 trot, unfinished from Monday. Derby Princess had two heats to her credit and Bessie Wilton one. Derby Princess was winner from the start and Wilton and Hubbard make it a race for the place all the way around. Time —2:12.

Fair View was the favorite in the three year old pace, with Lady Golden and Joe Bailey next in favor. Gus Hornet, as an unknown quantity, was played some for place. Fair View took the first heat after a pretty drive with Lady Golden, and in the second set a fine pace in the stretch for Joe Bailey. The third heat was none too easy for the gelding, but he was good enough for the best behind him.

The 2:21 pace was what everybody wanted. Frank Bogash, whose performances at Detroit, Cleveland and Columbus was still fresh in the minds of the people, was the attraction. On the second score the horses got away well bunched. At the quarter pole, Bogash was third, which position he held until they turned into the stretch, when he moved up on the leaders. Evidently, Mr. Geers, with Mocking Boy, who was in the lead, did not expect Bogash was out for the heat. He was not expecting the drive and, as Bogash came up, Mocking Boy went in the air and Frank Bogash won handily. Time, 2:15½.

In the second heat Woodnut again attempted to cut it out of his field and went to the half a length in the lead. Bogash forged up at the three-quarters and won easily. Woodnut and Simmons having a lively brush for the place. Time, 2:12. Mocking Boy had some backers for the third heat and he started out in a fashion that looked as though he were going to make their investments good. The field was bunched to the half, when Mocking Boy gradually drew away from the field. It was promising for him for a short time only. Again he went into the air Ed Geers tried to get him into the race again, but it was useless. Frank Bogash won easily in 2:12.

VITAL STATISTICS.

Few Contagious Diseases as Compared With Last Year.

Births and Deaths of a Month Reported by the Secretary of the Board of Health.

Dr. A. J. Keehn, secretary of the board of health, is to be complimented upon the vital statistics for the month of July and Dr. L. P. Drayer is assisting him in the work. He finds that there were fifty three births and forty five deaths. Cholera infantum was the most fatal disease among children, while consumption led in the adult ones.

In speaking of contagious diseases Dr. Drayer said that the sanitary condition of the city is better than last year, as is evidenced by a comparative showing. In the month of June last year there were a number of contagious diseases, while in the same month this year there were none. Last month there was only one contagious case reported, while July a year ago there were five.

Fred Hahn Injured at the Hoffman Lumber Yard.

His Head Strikes a Rail Causing Serious Concussion—Will Recover.

This morning Fred Hahn, an employe of Hoffman Bros., while working on a lumber pile in the yards, fell to the ground, his head striking one of the rails of the yard tracks, and causing serious concussion, which rendered him unconscious. He was conveyed to the home, No 15 West Main street, where the scalp wound was dressed and medicine administered to reduce the inflammation. He will be laid up for some time to come.

LIGHTNING STROKE.

Bolt Strikes the House of Mrs. M. A. Taylor,

Shattering a Chimney and Slightly Shocking the Inmates—Narrow Escape.

During the storm last evening lightning struck the residence of Mrs. M. A. Taylor, on Howell street, the bolt shattering the chimney and a portion of the roof. Mrs. Taylor and a neighbor were seriously though not dangerously shocked by the bolt, and the entire neighborhood was more or less frightened. Several trees in the vicinity of the city were struck by lightning but no further damage to buildings is reported.

UNEARTHED A GIANT

Dr. J. M. Shutt and Jesse Schild Explore a Mound.

They Find Bones of a Mammoth Human Being—Further Investigations Soon to Be Made.

Dr. J. M. Shutt, of Lakeside, and Jesse Schild, of the Keller Dental company, were given authority a few days ago by Marion Thompson to explore an Indian mound on his farm in the extreme northeastern part of Huntington county. The doctor is a great relic hunter and had his eyes on the covered spot for a long time, so he proceeded there yesterday with implements to proceed with his investigations, and Mr. Schild assisted him. The mound is thirty-six feet one way and thirty-seven feet the other and nine feet high. As a result of their search they unearthed a number of Indian skeletons, the largest being that of a giant eight feet and two inches in length. The skull of this human mammoth was five eighths of an inch thick. The doctor brought the bones home with him, as well as numerous other relics from the mound.

While in Huntington Dr. Shutt met a farmer named John Grossman, of whom he procured another interesting relic in the shape of a double egg, the outside shell of which is nine inches in circumference one way and seven and three quarter inches the other way. A small aperture in the outside shell was broken by Mr. Grossman, showing a perfectly formed egg of the ordinary size upon the inside. This marvel of hen fruit was the product of a Plymouth rock hen.

IN EXCELLENT SHAPE.

Condition of Affairs at the Allen County Infirmary.

The county infirmary farm never looked in a finer condition than it does at present and everything about this institution, where our poor are cared for relieves credit upon Superintendent Felts, who has been in charge of the home and farm for nearly two years. A visit paid to the place yesterday afternoon by a Sentinel reporter conclusively showed the farm prospering under the management of Superintendent Felts. The crops are looking finely and in grain, fruit and vegetables of all kinds will compare favorably with those in any part of the county. There are now nearly ninety patients at the institution. They are being nicely treated and all the departments of the farm are in their usual condition and the care of each in their management and treatment fully is proving a success and a credit to the county officials.

Our base ball cranks will be lonely for awhile. There will be no more games in this city until the last of the month.

The republicans of this county will hold their nominating convention on Saturday of this week.

The bicycle is reported to have cut off half the demand for cigars and greatly reduced the number of schooners of beer. The bicycle is seldom tied up in front of a saloon.

The health authorities are to be complimented on the excellent sanitary condition of the city. Their reports show few cases of contagious diseases—and far less than for the month of August in former years.

Those who have suffered from the oppressive heat of the last few weeks enjoyed the solid comfort of the cool wave that the storm of last night brought. It is only temporary, however, for old Sol will give us more scorching days during this month.

In face of the evidence that alcohol largely increases the danger of prostration from heat, there should be a careful abstinence from spirituous beverages during the hot weather. Many of the fatal cases from sunstroke during the present torrid wave have been chargeable to liquor, and where this complication is present the chances of recovery are greatly lessened. "Soft drinks" are the price of safety during the present condition of the mercury.

Sorting and Sifting Out the Gold

Those who heard Judge Taylor's speech on the money question at the Masonic Temple last Thursday evening, or who have read it as reproduced in pamphlet form for use in the republican campaign, will recall the picture it presents of the careful sorting—and sifting over all sorts and varieties of money by banks and bankers, and how on the instant spur of the moment the gold would be taken and the silver and other forms of money would be refused as unfit for use, if silver money should be restored to its rightful place in the national coinage. This picture of the manner of sorting and sifting out the good money from the bad, is real and true enough, both in conception and detail. The only trouble about it is found in its application. The artist evidently intended it for future, not for present, application. He was representing that which is to be, rather than what is, or has been. The picture must therefore be classed among prophetic, rather than historical paintings.

It probably did not occur to the judge that the great mistake in his work is in not applying it to existing conditions at the sub-treasury, which fit it exactly, instead of deferring it for future ones that probably will never exist, for the sorting out and selecting only gold at the sub treasury for the use of foreign banks and treasuries, and leaving nothing but the refuse for home use, exactly fits both the existing condition of things at the treasury and the minutest detail of the picture.

At no other national treasury than our own can there be found a like daily routine of sorting out gold for export to European treasuries, banks and bankers, and leaving only the "refuse" for American use.

President Harrison is responsible for the introduction of this vicious practice of sorting out American gold for use in foreign countries, by disregard of the law of government option, to pay current demands in gold or silver coin, at discretion—a law as indispensible to the maintenance and preservation of the national finances in time of peace, as are the army, navy and coast defenses for the national defense in time of war. Without this right of option in the government to meet current demands in gold or silver coin at its discretion, it is simply impossible to maintain the bimetallic system of gold and silver money established by the constitution for the national finances. Without this essential means of self defense, the gold and silver money basis of the constitution, would be but another form of the single gold basis that is sought to be substituted for it. That this right of government option in the use of the one coin or the other in financial emergencies does not exist in single gold standard countries, is not because it would not be as safe and helpful in emergencies there as elsewhere, but only because there is no ground or room for it to work on, for where there is but one thing to be done, or had on demand, there can be neither option nor choice in the doing or the having of it. It is but the case of "Hobson's choice" or none, over again.

Though Mr. Harrison was the first to attempt to break down this law of government option to pay current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, Mr. Cleveland has gone so far ahead of him in efforts to substitute the single gold standard for that of the gold and silver one of the constitution, that he has come to be recognized as the author of it. Besides the two hundred million dollars product of our gold mines during his administration, and what gold he could get out of the revenues, he has wasted $200,000,000 more, as more incidental expenses of his attempt to drive silver out of the American coinage. His extravagances in these mere incidental expenses of administration almost surpass belief.

Knowledge of the existence of this law of option in the government, to pay all current demands in gold or silver coin at discretion, when not otherwise provided, was in itself enough to render resort to its exercise unnecessary until two successive administrations gave public notice that the law would not be enforced. Then, and not until then, the rush on the treasury for gold coin began.

Weary travelers will welcome the new fashioned sleeping car. It has regular staterooms like a ship, and these can be locked. The passenger can stand up to undress and dress. The berths are all one side of a corridor, instead of being on both sides. All this has been accomplished by an ingenious sliding arrangement of partitions, which seems simple now that somebody has thought of it.

It is claimed for an electric carriage constructed in Chicago that it can travel 18 miles an hour. It is propelled by a storage battery fixed under the seat. The crying need of the time is not, however, for pleasure carriages run by mechanical motor, but for heavy hauling wagons thus propelled. It is the huge trucks with the heavy pounding horses attached to them that block, defile and wear out the streets. A horse to a light driving carriage is a pretty sight and one that it would be a pity to lose from among mankind.

One result of the present political campaign will be that the people of the United States will understand the currency question better than they ever did before. They are reading, studying and thinking as they never did under the same circumstances before, and under the circumstances the result will be very apt to even transcend in the full meaning of the term all previous campaigns. The campaign will of course educate all prejudices from their minds and prevent it to get all the light they can on the money question without any reference to anything but getting at the truth.

The Wabash Shops Will Cease Operations for Awhile.

Hot Weather Supposed to be the Cause —The Storm Interferes With an Excursion.

J. B. Barnes, superintendent of motive power of the Wabash, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, bringing unwelcome news to the shopmen at this point. Shortly after Mr. Barnes' arrival, orders were issued to the effect that the shops would be closed indefinitely, and the order went into effect at once. There is some work, however, which could not be delayed, and thirty or forty men have been retained to finish it. The cause of the suspension is not stated, but it is understood to be in part due to the hot weather and consequent illness of a number of employes. About 200 men are affected

SMALL EXCURSION TO ROME CITY

On account of special attractions at Rome City today, the Grand Rapids and Indiana road ran an excursion train from Winchester to that resort. Unfortunately for the company, the rain which prevailed nearly all night in this part of the state, increased in severity as the hour for the departure of the train arrived, and when it reached this city there were only about twenty five excursionists aboard. The railway people had reason for believing that the excursion would number her several hundred people and had made ample provisions for their accommodation. The disappointment was great.

IMPORTANT TELEGRAPHIC DISCOVERY

A description of a new electric telegraph has been forwarded to the department of state at Washington by Mr. Robert Kirk, consul at Copenhagen The apparatus, which is described in a Danish newspaper, was constructed by a young bontswain in the Danish navy, and makes it possible to communicate with a ship at a certain anchor ground without any direct line from the land. An electric battery is placed on the shore with one pole in contact with water or moist earth, while the current from the other pole through a telegraph key and revolution interrupter is conducted to a cable which is laid out to the anchor ground and placed around the latter in a coil with a diameter of 1 200 feet. On board the ship which is situated at anchor ground or a short distance outside the coils, that is small solenoid with which a telephone is connected. When a message is sent from the land a bell sounds on the ship and the communication is sent by the telegraph key through the telephone instrument The signals may be based on the Morse alphabet. The apparatus may also be so constructed that an answer can be sent from the ship. The inventor thinks he will succeed in making it possible to speak through the instrument as in the case of the common telephone. Vessels at sea, it is said, will be able to telegraph to each other when each have a solenoid on board. The distance at which they will be able to do so will depend on the length of wire and strength of the electric batteries.

SHORT MENTION

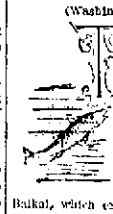
CRATER LAKE THE SUBJECT OF INVESTIGATION.

The United States Fish Commission Has Just Dispatched an Expedition to Oregon's Wonderful Body of Water—May Be Stocked.

(Washington Letter.)



THE United States Fish Commission has just sent an expedition to investigate the famous Crater Lake in Oregon. This is the deepest body of fresh water in America. Only one lake in the world is deeper — namely, Baikal, which exceeds it in depth by about 60 feet. Until recently it was asserted that Crater Lake was bottomless, but soundings have proved that its greatest depth is 2,900 feet. It is five miles in diameter, nearly circular, and occupies the crater of an extinct volcano.

Now, no fish have ever been known to exist in Crater Lake. Not long ago a request that it be stocked with trout was sent to Washington by the Mazamas, who are a club of mountain-climbers having headquarters at Portland. Mazama is the Indian name for mountain goat. These climbers are anxious to angle in the extinct crater, and the government experts are going to find out whether or not such a thing is practicable. It is easy enough to put trout into the water, but that would be of no use unless there is food for them there. Trials will be made for the purpose of ascertaining how much food there is and whether or not it is of a kind suitable for speckled beauties to browse upon.

This will be accomplished by towing small nets of gauze along the surface of the water. The water will flow through the gauze, which will catch all the animalculae that come in its way. The quantity of the latter secured in a given number of minutes or hours will be an accurate measure of the amount of fish-food present. They will be bottled and preserved in formaline for subsequent examination by a specialist, who will determine the species represented. Chiefly they will be little shrimps and other small crustaceans, and there will be some insects also. It will be necessary to make the towings at different hours of the day because some crustaceans swim near the surface only in the morning, others at midday, and others yet in the evening. Shady areas as well as sunny ones must be sought for various species.

There are very few places in the entire lake where the depth is less than 1,000 feet, though it shoals off somewhat in the southwest part. One line of soundings registered over 1,900 feet for a distance of two miles. These depths are unapproached by any other lake in the western hemisphere.

No wonder, then, that Crater Lake was supposed to be bottomless. However, the truth is that all lakes over 1,500 feet deep possess a similar reputation. Any body of water that is deeper than the length of the longest fishing line is sure to lack a bottom in the popular belief. A first-rate example of this sort of delusion is afforded by Payette Lake, in Idaho. It was formerly imagined to be bottomless, and later its depth was officially stated at 2,800 feet. Recent investigation proves that its greatest depth is 395 feet. There are no data on which to base a guess as to the bottom temperature of Crater Lake, but the supposition is that it will be very little above freezing. The temperature of the ocean depths remains at about forty degrees Fahrenheit all the year round, even in the tropics. Nevertheless, some volcanic heat may yet remain to warm the waters of Crater Lake.

Geologists regard Crater Lake as quite a wonderful phenomenon Its surface is 6,239 feet above sea level. It is situated seventy-five miles east of Rogue river valley, through which the Oregon and California Railroad passes, and may be reached by a picturesque mountain road. It is in the midst of one of the most attractive geological fields in the world. Lying in the summit of the Cascade range, about midway between Mount Shasta and Mount Hood, it is especially remarkable on account of its beauty and the grandeur of its encircling cliffs. This mountain summit is a broad platform topped by numerous volcanoes. One of these volcanoes, Red Cone, takes its name from the color of the debris with which it is covered. Rising to about 1,000 feet above the plain, it is surmounted by a hopper-shaped crater several hundred feet across and of great depth

Red Cone is situated two miles from the northwest shore of Crater Lake. The color of the latter is ultramarine, bordered by turquoise along the shores. Set in majestic cliffs, it is a natural jewel. Beautiful and attractive as it is, it serves but to conceal the greater wonder namely, the stupendous pit or basin in which it is contained. Although there are thousands of craters in this country, there is but one great one, and that contains Crater Lake. The diameter of the top of the pit is nearly six miles, and its depth is 4,000 feet. Its bottom is lower than the foot of the Cascade range, and is approximately a plain, judging from the surroundings. To the westward a mountain peak rises from the bottom, thus forming Wizard Island.

Wizard Island is itself an extinct volcano. It is surrounded by a cinder cone, and in its top is a crater 150 feet deep. It is thought that the shoaling of the lake in its southwestern part is due to lava poured out by this small but once energetic vol cano. The latter, which is simply a pile of lava 2,000 feet in height, was certainly active only a few centuries ago. But there was a time when there was neither pit nor lake, and instead might have been a range of mountains more than twice the size of the Shasta or Hood and forming a prominent peak of the range. Some tremendous geologic catastrophe broke off the top of the cone. Probably it will always remain a mystery how this huge mountain, nearly a mile in diameter and a mile higher than it now is, was removed, and in what manner the pit now occupied by Crater Lake was produced.

It might be interesting to the tip of Mt. Shasta can be blown off, but geologists do not believe that this was the case. The probability is that the molten contents of the giant volcano found an outlet near its base and escaped there. Thus the top sank in, and the final eruptive effort of the mountain is represented by the cinder cone whose top is called Wizard Island. Crater Lake has no visible outlet, but it is thought that there is a subterranean escape for some of the water. To the south of the lake stands Mount Thielsen, which is remarkable for its sharp summit and for the occurrence thereon of a peculiar kind of glass known as "Pelecite." This glass is made by lightning, which strikes the quartz rock and fuses the silica. The peak in question has been such a favorite target for lightning that its glass-covered rocks gleam in the sunlight.

ANDREE'S BALLOON.

Indians Claim to Have Seen It In British America.

Evelyn Baldwin Don't Believe Their Story and Gives His Reasons for the Doubt.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—Evelyn B. Baldwin, when asked this morning concerning the reported appearance of Andree's balloon in British America, in latitude 55° 11' longitude 127° 30', said: "I do not believe the report, as welcome as the accomplishment of the achievement would be to me. As late as August 2 or 3 Andree had not yet left Spitzbergen, and he could not, therefore have been 3,000 miles beyond that point on the evening of the 31, as related by the British American Indians. The bright lights seen by them may have been auroral displays Again Andree expected to land either in latitude 75°, longitude 135°, in the vicinity of Cape Barow, or in latitude 67°, longitude 105°, in the very north portion of British America Although Andree's airship is a wonderful piece of mechanism and with favorable conditions would undoubtedly accomplish the voyage, I regard the sledge and ship as the only practicable means of accomplishing the conquest of the north Still, Andree's effort must be regarded in the nature of a scientific experiment Should he lose, he alone will suffer most; should he win, the world will be the gainer thereby."

Today, while workmen were excavating for a sewer at the new school house in Archer's addition, they came across the trunk of a tree twenty six feet under the surface The wood was in a fair state of preservation.

Insane From Heat.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12—While temporarily insane from extreme heat, W. B. Lally a Cleveland railroad contractor, jumped from a fourth story window at the Hotel Boyer this morning and was fatally hurt.

to those suffering from catarrh or the thousands subject to severe attacks of cold in the head, will not be amiss if a sure remedy can be offered. Ely's Cream Balm has become a favorite in all sections of the United States, because of its effectiveness. Your cold in the head will be quickly relieved by it, and the severest attack of catarrh will yield to, and be perfectly cured by a thorough treatment. Catarrh is not a blood disease, but an inflammation of the passages of the nose and throat, due to climatic changes.

AMERICA TRIUMPHANT.

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

There has been a prevalent idea that no matter how valuable the results of American genius and workmanship might be in other things, that when it came to the construction of devices for the human body the BEST could be obtained only from abroad. How thoroughly this idea has been exploded is shown by the following Associated Press Dispatch, as well as by the fact that in the higher circles of medical practice in this country and Europe. The "Banning System" is used exclusively in the treatment of Rupture, Spinal Disease and distortion; deformed feet and limbs and all derangements that are the result of the internal organs being out of position. Manufactured only by the E. P. Banning, Orthapoidic and Mfg. Co., of Willoughby, Ohio.

WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO
Oct. 25, 1893.—(Associated Press)

The contest for supremacy as to the best method of treating spinal diseases and deformities was a vigorous and exciting one, over 150 different physicians, inventors and surgical instrument makers being in the lists. The jury awarded the highest and only prize to the method of Dr. E. P. Banning, of Cleveland, exhibited as the "Banning's System of Support." The points on which the award was given are lightness, coolness, effectiveness, capacity for accurate adjustment, physiological construction, power to create proper muscular antagonism and remove weight from all the ill-formed intervertebral cartilages.

DRUG STORE OF MARTIN DEITZER, 260 CALHOUN STREET.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 27, '96.
Mr. Editor:

It is a duty I owe the public to state the cure of my daughter's and my own cases by means of Dr. Banning's skillful adjustment of his supports. Three bad curvatures of the spine in my daughter's case were painlessly and promptly removed, and she now is a symmetrical young lady. I suffered for years from a terrible rupture, pain at and dangerous in a high degree I received no relief from the many means I tried Dr. Banning, without operation, pain or detention from business, cured me so I can go without a truss I know many others where his skillful application of support has removed their ruptures and other physical disabilities I cordially commend the man and his system to all my friends and will be glad to see anyone on the subject.

Yours truly,
MARTIN DEITZER

At 7 o'clock last evening the fire department was called to put out a fire in the stable at the rear of the building of Henry Freistadter, the blacksmith, at 11 West Main street. The barn was filled with hay, and the fire was a stubborn one, but was discovered in time to prevent its spread. The loss is about $300 and not insured. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Wabash Tribune: "Owen Carothers and Miss Foster were among the many who took in the excursions to Fort Wayne yesterday. It appears, however, that this couple went for some other purpose than that to enjoy the beauties of Robison park and the story is going the rounds this morning that Miss Edith came back as Mrs. Owen Carothers. At any rate the young couple has received the congratulations of numerous friends in a matter of fact way which leads to the belief that they are indeed one."

This personal gossip is taken from the Columbia City Post: Miss Randall, of Fort Wayne is in the city today, visiting Mrs. William Mease.—Mrs. Leopold Kraus and daughters, Nettie and Elsie, and Mrs. Apfelbaum and baby went to Fort Wayne today. Ella McCarthy, of Huntington, who has been visiting friends here went to Fort Wayne today, and from there home—Mrs. Geo. Haines and her mother, Mrs. M. J. Nessel left this morning for a few days visit with friends in Fort Wayne.—Bart Lawler received a telegram from Fort Wayne today that his wife, who is confined to her bed at the St. Joseph hospital."

A new business concern, to be known as the Wayne Baking company, is soon to be launched in this city, the chief promoter of the enterprise being Dan J. J. Keilley, who for ten years occupied the position of foreman in the baking department of the Fox bakery of the U. S. Baking company. Mr. Kelly has just returned from Chicago, where the company purchased an equipment of cracker and sweet goods machinery, to be delivered here as soon as a lease is closed for a building. Mr. Keilley, whose many years of experience qualify him to manage such a business with good promise of success, will look after the baking department himself. The new factory will be in operation in a few weeks.

The board of school trustees held a session last evening and transacted business pertinent to the approaching school opening. Mrs. Hennegger was appointed janitress of the Lakeside school and all other rumors and canvassers were disappointed as the same schools paid last year. Miss Birdie Austin was appointed to a position as teacher in the Hoagland building. Secretary Cooper was instructed to notify manufacturers of school desks to present bids for furnishing the two new buildings with desks. A report was received from Mrs. Susan C. Hoagland, librarian of the public library, which report will be read to-day. A donation to the library, books and periodicals, including Col. R. S. Robertson, was accepted with thanks. Bids for furnishing sixty tons of Hocking Valley coal to the Hoagland building were opened, and the contract was awarded to James Wilding at $3.05 per ton.

Shopmen!

Railroad Men!

Generally you pay cash for what you buy and that is wise.

Fifty dollars will buy in a cash store like ours, with the lowest cash prices, about as much as you will get for a hundred dollars in installment stores, where you who pay your bills, have also to help pay for the goods of those who never pay anything.

Some times you need a little credit on a part of your purchase. When you do, don't pay an installment store $10 for an article you could buy of us at $5 or $6, but come to us and we will arrange to give you the little accommodation you need. We would rather do this and suffer a little loss of interest ourselves rather than have our regular customers forced to pay sixty, seventy and even eighty per cent more for their goods than we would charge them.
